

Community college planned for area

By the end of 1980 a new college campus, eventually accommodating 4,500 students, will grace the southeast corner of Haggerty and Tyler roads in Van Buren Township. The new educational facility will be the fourth major campus of Wayne County Community College, according to Henry Orbach, Dean of Administration. In addition, 13 other locations, primarily base centers, are operated by the college, he said.

Construction on the Van Buren campus will begin this week, with earth balancing and installation of underground utilities, Orbach explained.

Located on the 117-acre site in Van Buren, the new college campus will be a unique structure of two floors, the first being constructed of glass blocks and the second of stainless steel. Architects will be Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, Orbach said.

"Actually, the one building will be a campus under one roof, similar to a shopping mall, with several separate building-like structures," the dean said.

Classes at the new Van Buren campus will be taught by about 50 teachers at what Orbach termed a unit of the decentralized college concept under which Wayne County Community College operates.

The other three major campuses operated by the college are:

Greenfield Center, Greenfield and Joy roads; Downriver Center on Northline Road in Taylor; and Downtown Center near Cobo Hall, which is expected to open next month.

A fifth major campus at Conner and the I-94 Expressway on the east side of Detroit is being built at about the same time as the Van Buren facility, Orbach said.

Once all five major campuses are in operation, Wayne County Community College and its total complement of campuses base centers and high school buildings used for night classes will have an estimated 46,000 students enrolled, Orbach emphasized.

Traffic signs

A traffic signal will be installed at Belleville and Tyler roads sometime this year, the Wayne County Road Commission has notified Van Buren Township.

A study to determine traffic volume at the intersection was made by the commission at the request of Comm. R. William Joyner, who represents the Van Buren Township area.

Although the study confirmed sufficient traffic for a traffic signal at Belleville and Tyler roads, a similar study failed to show the need for a signal at Haggerty and McBride roads, the commission reported.

It was fun

One of the most excited youngsters at Van Buren's Family Day Picnic Sunday afternoon was this little girl from Romulus who had her picture taken with Ronald McDonald of the famous hamburger restaurants. Judy Osak, 5, of Romulus poses next to Ronald while Mike Davis, 10, of Belleville also shares the excitement. Approximately 400 persons turned out for the all-day affair at Van Buren Park (the old Edison Lake park).

'First Step' takes a step backward

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

A committee of Wayne County Commissioners set "First Step", a crisis intervention and counseling service, back a few steps by its recent vote to reject leasing county property to the organization.

Feeling dejected by the vote of the Wayne County Human Resources Committee was Western Wayne County Commissioner William Joyner, who had offered the resolution to allow the non-profit organization to lease a county-owned building, located on the grounds of Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

"Already there is too much county property not being put to use," lamented Joyner. "It's a travesty."

Sharing in Joyner's disappointment was Gary Greenstein, who is on the board of directors of First Step.

Greenstein, an attorney in the Canton area, said it was difficult to argue the county commissioners' decision, considering a reason for the rejection wasn't given.

"All I can say at this time is that I'm obviously very disappointed. We haven't a shelter at this time, and there really aren't any alternative sites we've discussed," he added.

The group transports spouse abuse victims to area hotels, residential homes and in some cases to Detroit area abuse shelters.

Servicing battered mates — thus far only women who have sought assistance — the group's service area extends throughout the out-county communities.

First Step has a counseling center on Dorsey Road in Westland, but future plans include creating a 24-hour crisis line, and a crisis shelter.

Not being a member of the committee which issued the rejection, Joyner was not notified, nor present at the meeting when the decision was made.

"They moved on it so quickly. Within five days of me making the resolution, they acted on it, and I was out of town on a Jaycee convention," Joyner said.

At that same session the committee, comprised of Detroit area commissioners and one commissioner representing Inkster, voted to reject a proposal made by the Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre to utilize a theater, also on the grounds of Wayne County General Hospital.

The spouse abuse counseling center has been in operation for a three-month period, according to Debra Benjamin, program director. And during that time, "with minimal publicity", she noted, the group has serviced more than 100 clients.

A special task force of First Step has met regularly to investigate the feasibility of leasing the county building.

Although the group said it is not prepared to defray the costs of much needed renovations to the desired facility to meet fire and safety codes, Ms. Benjamin said the estimate of $20,000 for structural improvement costs could be met.

She said that the group had intended, and believes it could be successful, in soliciting the necessary funds from numerous foundations and area corporations sympathetic to its cause.

"It seems like a perfect site. This really sets us back," Ms. Benjamin said.

Chairperson of the county committee, Martha Scott, was on vacation and unavailable for comment.

'Flea market' owner goes on trial Aug. 14

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus resident will go on trial Aug. 14 in 34th District Court as a result of charges made by a Van Buren Township man that he is using his yard as a flea market, used car and boat lot and to sell pony rides.

Cited by the city of Romulus for violation of its zoning and animal control ordinances is Edgar McWilliams of 12175 Hannan Rd., Romulus.

A neighbor who lives West across Hannan on the township side, Richard Mandeville, brought the matter to the attention of Mayor William M. Oakley several weeks ago.

Apparently frustrated in his attempts to get Romulus to remedy the situation, Mandeville contacted the Enterprise for help.

He claimed that McWilliams used his front yard to sell used cars, motorcycles and boats and to sell pony rides and photographs of children riding the animals. As a consequence of the heavy traffic generated, Mandeville said, parking places in front of his home on the west side of Hannan were frequently taken by persons stopping to shop at the McWilliams residence.

Mandeville was miffed that Oakley could not stop McWilliams, whom he said did not have a license to sell his wares, from operating his various business enterprises.

On his third trip to see the mayor, he said he became so incensed that he threatened to sue Oakley.

Oakley explained, "He said he was going to sue me after I told him that the city legally had to go through a lengthy process in its attempts to get the matter resolved."

The mayor said following two days spent by the city's ordinance officer in court with McWilliams, the defendant had asked for a new judge and a jury trial.

On July 24, Judge Henry Zaborowski had set the trial date of Aug. 14 after holding a pre-trial hearing in his court. The jury trial will be presided over by Judge James B. Stone, the second of the two judges in the district court.

Oakley said he explained to Mandeville that McWilliams had been ticketed for his violations after failing to clear up the mess in his yard in the required 10-day period.

"Mr. Mandeville left my office mad, but our having to follow all of the legal steps is the way our society works," he said.

On his first visit to Oakley's office, the mayor said he suggested to Mandeville that he contact the supervisor of Van Buren Township about the possibility of having the township erect no parking signs in front of his house.

"When he came back to see me, I found out that he hadn't done so," the mayor said.

Friday, Mandeville called the Enterprise office to say he had been notified that McWilliams was going to trial on Aug. 14 and that he did not want to place a second classified ad in the Enterprise.

Last week, Mandeville took out a classified ad in the Enterprise which asked Mayor Oakley for help in getting the McWilliams' operation closed down.

Rather than place a second ad, Mandeville said he would wait to see what happened in court, now that action by the city had been put in motion.

At his first hearing July 10, McWilliams entered a plea of innocent to violations of the city ordinances. However, Judge Zaborowski set the Aug. 14 trial date at the later pre-trial hearing July 24.

Agency seeking 'grandparents'

In an age filled with frustrations, pessimism and sadness, Sumpter residents Janie Gore, Clara Horn and Eva Butler come through as rays of shining hope.

They are Foster Grandparents and spend four hours each week day with children.

The "grandmas" rock, read, play and listen to the children. These particular little ones are participants in a special summer program, others who are lucky enough to get grandparents are mentally or physically impaired. Many must reside in institutions.

The program matches low-income older adults (over age 60) with special children.

In return for their love and time, the grandparents receive uniforms, training, a meal each day, transportation and a small hourly income which is not-taxable and does not affect their social security or other benefits they may be receiving.

Communities United For Action, a community action agency, operates the program newly established in South Western Wayne County. The state funded project is administered through ACTION and will support forty-five grandparents.

The project's director, Linda Rhodehouse, is looking for four additional people to serve as grandparents in Belleville settings.

She says "Older men and women are, and always have been, worthwhile valuable people. This program simply allows them to use some of those skills to help very special children."

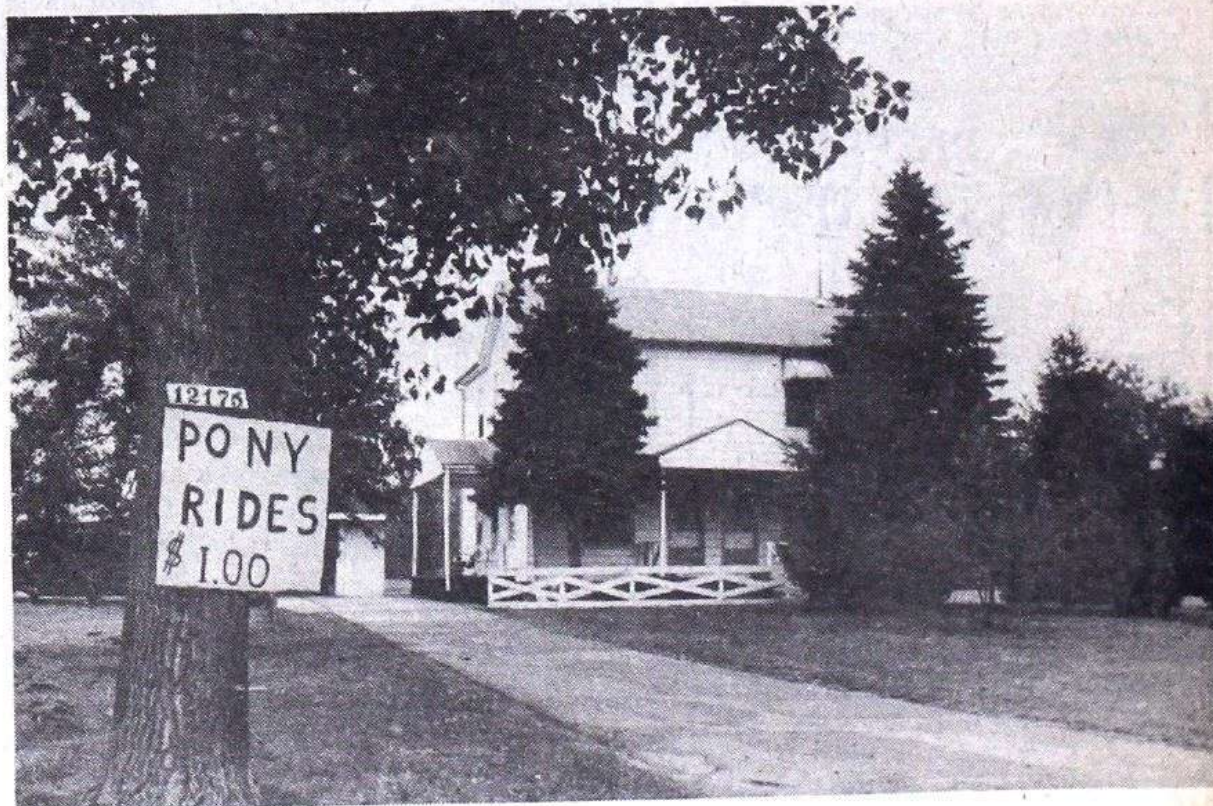

Anyone interested in becoming a Foster Grandparent should call 292-2110 for more information.

Teachers needed

The Huron school district is seeking part-time teachers for adult education evening classes in the math, secretarial practices, economics and vocational areas.

Teachers must be certified in academic areas or have two years of work experience in vocational fields. Pay is $8 per hour.

Interested persons are asked to call Roger Benner at the Huron school district at 782-2441.

Homeowner faces trial

Edgar McWilliams of 12175 Hannan Rd., Romulus, owner of house and grounds shown in photo, will go on trial Aug. 14 in 34th District Court on charges of violating the zoning and animal control ordinances of the city of Romulus. Richard Mandeville, a neighbor who lives west across the road in Van Buren Township, complained to the city that McWilliams was selling used cars, boats and motorcycles and also selling pony rides on his residentially-zoned property. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

According to CPAs

That whopping mortgage not all bad

A young working couple just a few years out of school buy a new home for $130,000, putting down $30,000 drawn from savings, or borrowed from their parents, and financing the balance with a 30-year, 10 percent mortgage loan. Their monthly payment on the mortgage is about $900, not including real estate taxes.

Are they wildly improvident and surely headed full-speed for financial disaster?

Not at all. According to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA), that young couple may have made a most conservative investment — one of the wisest moves open to them.

"Assume the couple's combined income is around $30,000," suggests a CPA spokesman. "That means their income tax rate is in the neighborhood of 30 to 40 percent. By claiming the interest on the morgage as a tax deduction, in effect they reduce the interest rate from 10 percent to 6 or 7 percent, and if their income is higher they reduce it even more.

"Actually, if the home is increasing in value at an annual rate of more than 7 percent — and that is not at all unusual with today's inflation — then the cost of taking that mortgage loan is zero — or even less, they could be gaining more than they pay out."

As for the real estate tax bill, that, too, is deductible from taxable income, the CPAs point out. Thus, both the real estate taxes and mortgage interest, in effect, are much less than they seem to be — offset by adjusting the amount of income taxes withheld from your paycheck, or by applying the tax refund at the end of the year.

What about rules of thumb commonly applied to housing costs, such as "don't let them exceed 25 percent of income?" Say the CPAs: Such rules lose much of their validity during inflationary periods, and anyway, only part of mortgage payments can be considered a housing cost; to the extent that payments, plus appreciation, increase equity they constitute an investment, not an expense.

There are, of course, situations in which too heavy a mortgage commitment is to be avoided, the CPAs warn. Should one of the couple's two incomes be cut back, for example, there might not be enough to meet monthly payments. Or if the economy were to take a sudden, sharp downturn, appreciation in the home's value could turn the other way.

Prospects for a weakening in the housing market, which could also affect housing values, is something else that should be considered and weighed against the likelihood that the surge of new-home buyers among people born during the post-World War II baby boom will offset downward tendencies.

Meanwhile, the CPAs remind us, as long as inflation continues, money put into physical things, such as a house, whose value keeps pace with the cost of living, is better invested than if left in a low-interest savings account.

"There's not only the tax savings and the appreciation," says the CPA spokesman, "but as time goes on and inflation continues, you pay off your mortgage with cheaper and cheaper dollars."

'...if the home is increasing in value at an annual rate of more than 7 percent ...then the cost of taking that mortgage loan is zero...'

Conservative driving can increase mileage

— AAA says

Automobile Club of Michigan has kicked off an extensive gasoline conservation program with an economy driving demonstration showing how Michigan motorists can increase gas mileage up to 69 percent by driving conservatively.

"We know that the average family can significantly reduce gasoline consumption without disturbing its lifestyle or cutting vacation travel by making a few simple adjustments in driving habits," said Auto Club President Richard R. Dann.

A performance driving test conducted by Auto Club July 17 in Dearborn showed that conservative versus jackrabbit driving over a 10,000-mile year can result in a savings of 352 gallons of gasoline and a reduction of $352 in fuel costs for each state motorist.

The driving test consisted of two drivers traveling the identical 8.7-mile-long freeway and city street course in a 1978 Buick LeSabre equipped with an Autocomputer to measure miles per gallon and gasoline consumed. The test was supervised by Detroit Testing Laboratory, with the Autocomputer furnished by the Raymond Co. of Brighton.

The poorly driven car obtained 11.9 miles per gallon and finished the course in 17 minutes, or less than two minutes before the other vehicle which achieved 20.1 miles per gallon.

Gas-wasting techniques used in the test included jackrabbit starts, abrupt stops, weaving in and out of traffic and following vehicles closely and applying brakes frequently. Gas-conserving techniques included driving at a steady pace and with the flow of traffic.

By driving safely and sensibly, motorists not only can conserve fuel but help reduce the chances of long lines at Michigan gas stations, fuel shortages or rationing, according to the Auto Club.

As part of its Gas Watchers program, Auto Club is showing motorists how to conserve fuel by conducting economy driving demonstrations statewide and having a mobile display unit dispense gas-saving advice at festivals and shopping centers in the state.

Auto Club suggests these seven steps to significantly cut gasoline consumption:

— Eliminate jackrabbit starts and fast stops.

— Keep car properly maintained. An out-of-tune engine and under inflated tires can cut gasoline mileage by 20 percent.

— Combine short trips. Fifty-four percent of all car trips are less than five miles each. One organized shopping trip can cut gas use 10 to 30 percent.

— Don't idle the engine for long periods. One minute of idling eats more gas than it would take to restart the engine.

— Car pool as often as possible. A two-member car pool reduces average fuel use by 25 percent per person.

— Don't carry excess weight in the car. Every 100 lbs. cuts gas mileage up to 4 percent.

— Obey the speed limit. The average car gets 20 percent better mileage at 55 than 70.

Romulus eyes '80 Convention

City, businesses seek to lure Republicans

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

"We can be very friendly!" That's the message that metropolitan Detroit area officials want to get across to more than 8,000 delegates who attend the 1980 Republican National Convention in Detroit.

Since more than 90 percent of the delegates from the 50 United States will pass through Metro Airport in Romulus, local city officials and business people want to make them aware of facilities in this area.

With that in mind, Jay Young, Romulus public information officer, called a meeting last Friday of nearly two dozen people to put the wheels in motion for the gigantic task. The meeting was the brainchild of Council member Beverly McAnally, who proposed the idea in a February council meeting. Her motion stated: "Because of the proximity of the City of Romulus and the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, and with the National Republican Convention being held in the City of Detroit in 1980, that a plan be prepared and money be budgeted for implementation of said plan for the promoting, advertising and, for the most part, bringing attention to the nation that the City is here."

Attending the meeting were representatives from the city of Romulus, Chamber of Commerce local hotels and motels, advertising companies, airlines and Wayne County.

"This is only a first exploratory step to gauge interest in the program from various segments of the population," said Young, who organized the meeting. "Before the year is up, nearly every organization and interested group in the city will probably become involved in one way or another."

Young also added that elected officials from surrounding communities of Huron Township, Van Buren Township, City of Belleville and Sumpter Township would be contacted to send representatives to future meetings. "Although we are stressing Romulus because of its proximity to Metro Airport and the hotels where many delegates will be staying, we want to have all the communities in this entire area involved."

Romulus Mayor William Oakley welcomed the two dozen people to the meeting. "Many of you have probably spent years working in our city, yet never had an occasion to visit city hall or meet the elected officials of your home base. This morning we want you to feel welcome. The occasion for our meeting, of course, is the 1980 Republican National Convention."

Oakley said the national event offered exciting possibilities for all who attended Friday's meeting at Romulus City Hall.

"We'd like to see if we can get together and mutually benefit from this important national event next year," He pointed out that Kansas City, host of the 1976 Republican National Convention, had 25,000 attend.

He said the delegates spent approximately $103,000 per day and the local economy was boosted by $30-million during the week-long affair.

"We're looking for the long term effects of this national event. To interest the delegates to come back to Romulus, and the Detroit area, and to bring with them business, industry, jobs and homes," Oakley concluded.

The meeting was mainly a time for exchanging ideas from everyone there. However, Carol Gies, executive director of the host committee for the convention held sway over most of the session and gave valuable direction to the participants. She has taken a one-year leave of absence from her job as director of public relations for Metro Detroit Convention Bureau to coordinate a reception committee for next year's Republican Convention which begins July 14, 1980.

She gave out some interesting information. For instance, delegates will be housed in 35 hotels and motels located between Pontiac and Monroe and from Ann Arbor to Mt. Clemens. Some 80 percent of Detroit hotel space is expected to be available during convention week.

Ms. Gies said her timetable and master plan for coordinating all groups and organizations in the entire Metropolitan Detroit area should be approved by Sept. 10. The overall strategy, according to her, is to keep the delegates very busy visiting places of interest during the hours the convention is not in session.

Since the sessions begin in early evening, delegates will be free during the day to visit places of interest.

Those delegates are expected to spend between $20-million and $30-million during their week-long stay in the Detroit area. Romulus people and other local communities hope a large share of that amount is spent in this area.

They are working to show people all over the nation that "We can be very friendly!"

The next organizational meeting is scheduled for Sept. 7 at Romulus City Hall, 11111 S. Wayne Road, Romulus. Persons interested in getting information about the session can contact Jay Young, public information officer, at 941-0666, ext. 20.

Future voter

Attending Mayor William Oakley's community picnic last Thursday were Mrs. Cynthia Perry, daughter of Romulus Fire Chief John Wilhide, and her five-month-old son, Jeffery.

Project SCORE scores in city

It provides youth with jobs

Project SCORE in Romulus is one of the several work-experience programs funded under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1974.

It provides qualified youth with the opportunity to learn the essentials of becoming employable.

Project SCORE was formerly known as the Neighborhood Youth Corps. The acronym stands for Student Career Opportunities Through Relevant Experiences.

The purpose of SCORE, is to provide, eligible youth, ages 14 through 21, with an opportunity to supplement their family income, to acquire limited occupational skill training, and to encourage them to remain in high school until graduation.

It also provides an opportunity for pre-employment job experience to develop acceptable attitudes and work habits necessary for successful full-time employment.

The program in Romulus has placed more than 130 youths with non-profit job sites in Romulus and surrounding areas in Wayne County. Enrollees work eight hours per day, five days a week, and receive $2.90 per hour, and the program lasts for approximately 8 weeks during the summer.

Students work in schools, with the City of Romulus, in housing and other public and non-profit areas.

They serve as aides to persons employed in almost all job positions in the public and non-profit sector.

The Project Director for Wayne County is Dr. Frank Davis, who directs all Wayne County school districts with the exception of Dearborn, Detroit and Livonia. The coordinator of the program in Romulus is Robert C. Brock.

For further information, call the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Unique class for seniors

New Boston will be one of four communities in which a course called "Humanities" will be taught to senior citizens by Mrs. Barbara Cheslock.

Designed by Mrs. Cheslock and the National Council of the Aging, the course will combine literature, philosophy, local history, and the arts and will offer an unlimited opportunity for self-discovery and personal growth, the instructor explained.

Similar senior humanities programs are operating in some 400 senior citizen centers across the nation, she added.

The Humanities course will be offered at the following locations: New Boston Elementary School, 19132 Huron River Dr., New Boston; Stoney Creek United Methodist Church, 8635 Stoney Creek Rd., Ypsilanti; Flat Rock Senior Citizens Center, 25543 W. Huron River Dr., Flat Rock; and Old Fire Hall, Mineral Springs, Waltham.

New hours for park

Beginning last Monday, Van Buren Park in Van Buren Township will open at 10 a.m. instead of noon on week days, according to action taken recently by the township board.

An old fashioned picnic

Hundreds of people turned out last Thursday to enjoy free hot dogs and refreshments provided by Romulus Mayor William Oakley at Greenlawn Grove picnic area on Middlebelt Road in Romulus. Oakley's community picnic drew several other candidates for office as well as residents who came by to say hello.

In Belleville Lake

Detroit fisherman drowns

A fishing pole apparently cost a Detroit man his life last week.

According to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Derek Hayes leaped into Belleville Lake after he had dropped his fishing pole in hopes of retrieving it.

However, Hayes, 27, of 27838 McDougall, never resurfaced after entering the water near the Denton Bridge in Van Buren Township.

Witnesses reported to WSCD detectives that the victim removed his shirt, personal belongings, and hat and slipped over the bridge, feet first, and went after the pole. After a few minutes he failed to resurface. The sheriffs were called to the scene.

Divers from the Marine Division went into the water and found Hayes' body. They said the body was located around 4 p.m. in shallow water immediately below the bridge.

Wayne County detectives theorize that the victim may have possibly got stuck on the bottom of the lake and could not free himself to surface.

Local fishermen said that the water in the area reaches a depth of approximately 15 feet.

Vacant homes a hazard?

The safety hazard of abandoned houses destroyed by fire finally may be resolved, if the Michigan House of Representatives concurs with legislation recently passed by the Michigan Senate.

Senate Bill 367 creates a special fund to be used for the restoration or removal of fire-damaged property. Local units of government will be allowed to hold in trust a share of insurance claims placed on property lost in fires and use this money to tear down or repair the burned out houses or buildings.

"Too often we find that after a fire has occurred, a property owner will collect his insurance money and abandon the damaged dwelling or business. The charred remnants of the building remain as a scar on the neighborhood and the removal costs are a burden to the city's budget," Hertel said.

"I proposed this legislation in an effort to see that our cities are rid of the abandoned structures which are both eyesores and hazards to public health, as well as possible breeding grounds for crime."

The bill proposes that a city, village or township, if it so chooses, create an escrow account, collecting 15 percent of the insurance claims which are to be paid on fire-damaged buildings. The money received from each claim may be held by the local unit of government until such time as it receives proof that the structure has been repaired or the debris and remnants of the structure have been removed.

If the site is not repaired or cleared within six months' time the owner of the insured property forfeits to the general fund of the city the share of his claim which has been held in escrow.

Convention business

Nearly two dozen representatives of Romulus businesses joined city officials Friday in discussing ways to lure Republicans to this area when they have their national convention in July, 1980. Some 8,000 delegates and alternates, plus families and relatives are expected to spend approximately $30 million during their week-long stay here. All of the Romulus hotels and motels are booked to house delegations from the various states and local business people are exploring ways to have the delegates spend a good share of their money in this area. Their main purpose is to make the visitors feel at home and to show them outstanding hospitality.

Gang's all here

The gang was all there last week at the Van Buren Township Hall, when area senior citizens gathered for a 203rd American birthday party. Celebrating 203 years of freedom in the United States, the seniors made sure there were all the things necessary for a birthday party, including a cake. Showing off some of the birthday goodies at the party were seniors coordinator Virginia Melcher (from left), Eileen Blau and Ellen Holby. Consumer Comment

Planning can avoid marketing techniques

By LINDA JOY
Executive Director
Michigan Consumers Council

How many times have you gone into the grocery store for one or two items and come out with one or two bags of groceries?

There are many subtle marketing techniques which are designed to encourage spending in grocery stores. Those who are familiar with these strategies can save some money.

A recent survey conducted by the Point-of-Purchase Advertising Institute and the DuPont Corp. found shoppers spend an average of 90 cents for every minute they browse in the supermarket aisles. It's not surprising then to find that the layout and design of many stores are often aimed at keeping the shopper walking down the aisles.

For example, most grocery stores are arranged so that the essential items, such as bread, milk and meat, are on the outer perimeter of the store. To get to these items, a shopper must walk through the entire store. The chances of spending more than what's set aside in the food budget are enhanced by tempting displays and delicacies.

Another method used by some retailers to encourage buying is called the tie-in sale. This technique involves such things as placing the dip next to the chips or the dressings next to the lettuce. One type of tie-in sale especially annoying to parents is the placement of toys next to cereals and cookies, where children are sure to see and either request or demand them.

Multiple pricing also often gives the illusion of a bargain. Three-for-a-dollar generally sounds better than 33 cents each. These prices should be compared with items priced individually before stocking up.

Most experts agree the best way to avoid expensive impulse purchases is to make a specific grocery list before leaving for the store. Then stick to it! It also may help to take along only enough money to cover the planned purchases on the list.

Shopping on an empty stomach also leads to disaster. Try to plan shopping trips after dinner, when expensive tidbits won't be so tempting.

No-name brands and store brands usually are money-savers. In many cases, the quality is the same—the only difference may be cosmetic.

The Consumers Council Guideline counselors are able to provide more money-saving tips for careful shoppers. Just call the Consumers Council Guideline at 1-800-292-5680. Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. It's toll-free.

August moon will cover up meteor shower

August's full moon may be beautiful, but it will make it difficult for skywatchers to see the annual Perseid meteor shower.

The full moon will make its appearance Aug. 7 and continue to brighten the late night sky until mid-August.

Robert Victor, astronomer at Michigan State University's Abrams Planetarium, pointed out that because the moon will be bright until sunrise, the best viewing time for the meteor shower will be lost.

Under the circumstances, Victor said, best viewing of the Perseid shower should be early in the evening of Aug. 12 — from the time darkness falls, nearly two hours after sunset, until the rising of the moon, about three hours after sunset.

The meteor count should be about 20 per hour. If it weren't for the bright moon, observers could watch until the early morning hours when the count would likely be up to 60 per hour, the MSU astronomer said.

Psychology

Many experts on child behavior say that young people are more likely to grow up self-reliant if they spend more time with peers than with parents. Many parents find that sending their children to full-time, private, sleep-away camps is a good way to ensure this.

Children in a camping environment can learn to improve their behavior through peer approval. They learn to cope with personal situations, and they learn how to be graceful in victory and not frustrated by defeat. America's private camps offer a variety of programs. For a free directory to help you pick a camp that meets your child's needs, write to the Booklet Department, Association of Private Camps, 55 West 42nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10036.

Interim plan rejected

A proposal to adopt an interim zoning ordinance, activating the 1976 Master Plan for Canton, failed by a close vote of the township Board of Trustees.

Tuesday night the board, by a 4-3 vote, decided against its adoption, since the more than 300-page document would have become law without proper public input and review, among other reasons.

Those favoring the ordinance's adoption were visibly angered by the board's action. They had hoped that by its adoption, prior to the Aug. 15 Master Plan hearing, a land developer could be stalled in his plans to construct a retail shopping plaza along Ford Road.

Residents in the area of Ford Road, predominantly a commercial area, argued the interim zoning ordinance would have preserved the "integrity" of the 1976 Master Plan by allowing Ford Road's future development to have two options—either for strip commercial, or commercial mixed with multiple dwellings.

Without the interim zoning ordinance, they argued, the Ford Road development would continue along its commercial way. They gained the support of Trustees Carol Bodenmiller and Robert Greenstein and Deputy Treasurer Marie Falkiewicz (filling in for Treasurer James Donahue's absence.)

However, Supervisor Noel Culbert, Clerk John Flodin and Trustees Gene Daley and Steve Larson defeated the ordinance's adoption arguing that the majority of the residents' concerned was the "actual issue", not just Ford Road.

Culbert also noted the 1976 Master Plan shows some two-thirds of Ford Road zoned as commercial, and argued: "They want to preserve the integrity of the master plan...fine, but there is no integrity to preserve."

It is in the proposed revisions to the 1976 Master Plan, designed by members of the former Greenstein administration, which reduce the commercial outlook for Ford Road's future, according to township records.

"Government should not be run by the whim of one man with a crayon," said Culbert, referring to action of Planning Commissioner Dan Richardson, a chief proponent of the interim ordinance's adoption. "We can't in good conscience bypass the problems with," Flodin said. "It is an all-encompassing ordinance, and I think we should go through the normal channels for its adoption."

While Greenstein said Ford Road and the issue of developing a 7-acre parcel as a retail shopping center, would have been an emotional issue regardless of the interim zoning ordinance, the township was in a state of emergency and urged its adoption.

He said by adopting the zoning ordinance it would give the township a "clear and definite" guideline to work from in future land developments.

The interim zoning was to have been in effect for a 6-month period, with up to a 3-year time span, had it been approved.

Opponents to its adoption, like Larson, argued the ordinance was too complex to be adopted for that possible length of time without first seeking public input.

The issue of the Canton, Home Center, a retail shopping center to be constructed on South Ford Road between Morton Taylor and Oakview roads, was tabled.

Culbert said he felt the proposed Canton Home Center development should be either tabled, at least during the period of revising the 1976 Master Plan, or defeated based on "traffic congestion" along Ford Road. "And it doesn't take a zoning ordinance to do that."

'Water Wonderland' lives up to name

With more shoreline than any other state except Alaska and almost everyone within a 15-minute drive of a lake or river, it's no wonder Michigan is called a "Water Wonderland."

Water is the state's most abundant natural resource and Michiganders enjoy an array of inland lakes which would cover an area the size of Rhode Island in addition to the Great Lakes, the world's largest body of fresh water.

Largest and deepest of the Great Lakes, Lake Superior also is the world's largest single freshwater body. Covering an area greater than the State of Maine, it measures 1,302 feet at its deepest point near the famous Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore east of Munising.

At its eastern end, the Soo Locks, the world's busiest, moves lake freighters and ocean-going "salties" past the mile-long St. Mary's Rapids at Sault Ste. Marie.

Lake Michigan's northern shoreline has undoubtedly one of the most beautiful drives in the state. Called the Lake Shore Scenic Drive, this 20-mile stretch of M-131 taking in picturesque Harbor Springs, and quaint Good Hart and Cross Village often is roofed by outstretched trees and includes photogenic views of ice-blue Lake Michigan from atop high bluffs.

Lake Michigan merges with Lake Huron, second largest of the Great Lakes, at historic Mackinaw City. Fish plantings over the last decade have made Lake Huron's waters, especially in Saginaw, Tawas and Thunder bays, hotspots for trout and salmon, while its miles of sandy beach beckon countless sunbathers from Port Huron to De Tour.

At its southern terminus, the big lake's waters are channeled through the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair to the Detroit River, busiest waterway in the world.

Shipwatchers and picnickers on Detroit's Belle Isle can view vessels from around the world and lake freighters up to 1,000 feet long heading north for cargoes of grain, iron ore or other midwest products, or "downbound" toward Lake Erie, shallowest of the lakes surrounding the state's two peninsulas and one of the heaviest traveled by pleasure craft.

Michigan has an abundance of sparkling inland waters as well. At last count, there are more than 10,000 with many having the same names. There are at least four dozen named Long, Grass of Mud, 13 Round lakes, eight named Blue but one named Gull, between Kalamazoo and Battle Creek.

Most of Michigan's inland lakes were gouged out by glaciers and many times were formed in pairs, and linked by streams and rivers.

Largest is 31-square-mile Houghton Lake, which attracts thousands of summertime vacationers and wintertime snowmobilers and ice fishermen. It is connected by the Cut River with its twin, Higgins Lake, popular with swimmers because of its shallow shoreline waters.

At 297 feet, Antrim County's Torch Lake is the deepest inland lake in the state. It also is the largest link in northwest Lower Michigan's "Chain of Lakes," which includes Elk, Central and Bellaire.

A man-made canal connecting Lakes Mitchell and Cadillac at Cadillac provides boaters with easy access to both waters. Mullett, Burt and Crooked Lakes, plus the Black River, make up the Trans-Michigan Waterway, used extensively by pleasure boaters traveling between Cheboygan on Lake Huron and the Petoskey area on Lake Michigan.

Beautiful Lake Charlevoix's twin is Walloon Lake, while heart-shaped Hubbard Lake near Alpena has Fletcher Pond for a look-alike.

Green and Duck lakes provide a scenic backdrop for classical music amid the pines at the National Music Camp, founded in 1928 by University of Michigan music professor Joseph E. Maddy at Interlochen, south of Traverse City.

The five-county Grand Traverse Bay region is the world's largest producer of tart cherries, and thousands of the area's 1.6 million cherry trees make a unique setting for picturesque Lake Leelanau in Leelanau County's Little Finger Peninsula.

OSA conducts search for outstanding seniors

The State Office of Services to the Aging (OSA) is conducting a state-wide search for two outstanding senior citizens to receive Senior Citizen of the Year Awards.

The awards, one for service and one for leadership, will be presented at the Michigan State Fair on Senior Citizens Day, Aug. 27. Applications for the awards have been distributed to senior organizations and agencies throughout the State. The deadline for submitting applications is Aug. 17.

"What we're looking for," said OSA director Peter Kok, "are individuals who've never received recognition for the work they're doing. At the same time, we are trying to call attention to the fact that older people are a vital and integral part of community life."

Kok said that although the selection committee primarily evaluates contributions made during the past year, they do take special note of senior citizens who've been engaged in community activities a number of years.

"We urge local organizations to nominate these senior citizens, because they are responsible for the success of many senior programs."

Anyone 60 or older is eligible for the award. They must be nominated by an organization. Senior citizens may not be nominated for work they receive a stipend for or do as part of their job.

The Senior Citizen of the Year Awards are sponsored by the Michigan Commission and Office of Services to the Aging, and the Michigan State Fair.

For more information or an application, contact your local Area Agency on Aging or the Office of Services to the Aging, P.O. Box 30026, Lansing, 48909, or call (517) 373-9360.

Things that matter: Tame scandal of 1927

By GEORGE PLAGENZ
United Feature Syndicate

I wonder where Wilfred Cross is today. He was a young divinity school student in 1927 when he wrote an article for a church publication condemning rising immorality on the college campus.

Cross' disclosures prompted Liberty magazine to do a survey of college morals across the country. The story would make interesting reading today for those who maintain that youthful morals really have not changed that much.

"COLLEGE MORALS:
Revelations of a Coast-to-Coast

Survey of Our Boy and Girl Undergraduates" is a spicy enough title, but makes pretty tame reading 52 years later.

The most shocking line in the whole story is, "In the South the girls even talk about underclothes in front of men, one dean notes." Horrors!

"The Middle West seems to lead in immorality," the article said, but, by and large, the biggest worries of the colleges were drinking and girls' smoking.

Stealing and cheating were the other major problems.

The colleges reported that, although drinking was a disciplinary problem, prohibition (which went into effect in 1920) had lessened the trouble with liquor on the campus.

The automobile was just starting to create difficulties for college administrators. Some colleges had rules about unchaperoned auto rides. Others specified that girls had to be in from an "auto date" by 7:30. Some colleges barred auto dates altogether.

One Southern student said that boys "will attempt more familiarity with the girl who smokes," although he said the boys "much prefer the girls who don't smoke."

To you, Wilfred Cross, wherever you are, a girl smoking may have been shameless behavior in your day. But we would gladly settle for it today.

As a church critic, I go to a different church each Sunday and rate its performance.

The churches are graded in four different areas — worship service, music, sermon and friendliness. A church can get up to three stars in each category, so a perfect score is 12. Only four churches out of the 50 I have rated so far have received a 12-star rating.

Some others have come close and would have made a 12 if they hadn't lost stars in the "friendliness" category. This is surprising, for you would assume that churches would be the friendliest places in the world.

Churches which receive a low "friendliness" rating from me often say that if I would have gone up and introduced myself to parishioners after church, I would have been given a warm greeting.

That's probably true, but I don't do that. I stand around alone in the back of the church after the service and wait to see if anybody will come up to me and say hello.

I do this because I think the test of a friendly church is whether or not the people are outgoing to the stranger in their midst who may be shy or, for other reasons, unable to muster the sophistication necessary to approach others.

The stranger may be unattractive in terms of dress or demeanor, but that is no excuse. "They need love most who deserve it least."

Evangelist Rex Humbard tells of a visit he made to Cadle Tabernacle in Indianapolis in the 1940s. He was speaking on evangelism.

A woman came up to him later and told of an incident concerning her brother John, who had been to reform school (as they called it in those days).

When he was released, he made an effort to straighten out his life. He went to church one Sunday and when the minister announced the "altar call" at the end of the service, John went forward and knelt at the altar along with several others.

It is the practice in evangelical churches at such times in the service for a member of the church to go up and pray with the kneeling penitent.

But nobody went up to pray with John. The people knew who he was. He was a bad actor. He had been to reform school. He was no good.

When John left the church that Sunday, he told his sister, "I will never go to a church again as long as I live."

He never did.

For John Dillinger, "two roads diverged" that day. "The road not taken" was the road that could have redeemed the man who became the most notorious "Public Enemy No. 1" in the annals of the FBI.

Calvary Baptist Church adds two staff members

Calvary Baptist Church of Ypsilanti has added two members to its pastoral staff.

Larry Campbell, assistant to the pastor, has been named principal of Calvary Christian Academy, while David Gorton has been hired as minister of music.

Campbell comes to Ypsilanti from LaGrange, Wyoming, where he served as dean of students and administrative vice-president at Frontier School of the Bible. He also worked as the business manager and member of the faculty.

Campbell attended the University of Michigan, then transferred to Central Michigan University where he graduated in 1961. He taught high school in Holton and Hamilton, Mich., for 11 years, coaching football, basketball and track. He served as athletic director for six years and assistant principal for one year.

He also has been a Sunday School teacher for 16 years.

Gorton is a recent graduate of Baptist Bible College in Clarks Summit, Penn. As a student he served as president of two student organizations, as well as working for the college in the area of public relations.

He travelled extensively for three years as a member of the "Collegians", a male quartet representing the college. He has studied piano for 14 years and is now giving private lessons. He worked for one year as the music director at the First Baptist Church of Kingston, Penn.

Also working at the church this summer is Don Roe, a third-year student at Tennessee Temple University in Chattanooga, Tenn. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roe of Ypsilanti, he is working as a pastoral apprentice to Pastor Roger A. Mills.

Calvary Christian Academy is a ministry of Calvary Baptist Church and is a private school for students in preschool through the 12th grade.

Calvary Baptist Church is located at 1007 Ecorse Road.

Historical guide printed

In an age when discovery is an element fast disappearing from travel, the Historical Society of Michigan offers "Historic Michigan Travel", a guide to help those who believe in shunpike serendipity to discover historical museums, dine in historic restaurants and relax in time-honored lodgings.

This 72-page visitor's guide is pocket-size and gives complete information about the museum, restaurant or lodging establishment, obtained directly from that establishment.

Restaurant and lodging listings include a description of the structure or site, its history, hours of operation, specialties of the house, the average cost of meal or room, services, credit cards accepted, as well as location and telephone number.

Museum entries include location, telephone number, description of exhibits and major holdings, year-round schedule and name and telephone number of contact person for more information about group-sponsored tours and special arrangements.

Historic eating environments range from the Georgian Revival elegance of Ishpeming's Mather Inn to the bustling atmosphere of Grand Rapids' Little Mexico Cafe. Lodging includes the Keweenaw Mountain Lodge, begun as part of the CWA and WPA project, and Arcadia's Watervale Inn, established in the 1880s as a lumber camp.

Michigan's historical museums cover a wide range of topics, from pioneer life at Cassopolis's Pioneer Log Cabin Museum to Cross Village's Great Lakes Indian Museum. There are museums about skiing, ethnic groups, musical instruments and magic.

The publication of this booklet was made possible through a cooperative effort among the 29 inns, hotels and restaurants and 70 museums and historical societies.

Copies may be ordered for $2 each, plus 50 cents postage, from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw Avenue, Ann Arbor.

In the armed forces

Marine S. Sgt. Ray E. Smithson, the son of Billy and Alwilda Smithson of Merriman Place, Romulus, has reported for duty at the Marine Corps Air Station at Cherry Point, NC.

A 1967 graduate of Taylor Center High School, he joined the Marine Corps in January 1979.

Also in the armed forces: Navy Hull Maintenance Tech. Fireman Appren Greg R. Hisey, the son of Ronald D. Hisey of California, Romulus, has graduated from Basic Hull Maintenance Technician School.

During the 8-week course at the Naval Training Center, Navy Service School Command, San Diego, Calif., he received instruction on the basics of welding, pipefitting and metalsmithing. He studied the procedures used to fabricate, install and repair all types of shipboard structures, plumbing and piping systems.

He joined the Navy in February 1979.

Navy Aviation Ordnanceman Airman Matthew D. Ticknor, the son of Frank R. and Louise E. Ticknor of Romine Road, New Boston, was graduated from Basic Aviation Ordnanceman School.

During the 9-week course at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Millington, Tenn., he received an introduction to aviation ordnance fundamentals, including small arms, aviation munitions and gun systems. In addition, he was instructed in procedures and testing of aircraft gun systems and the basic safety precautions used in handling ammunition.

He joined the Navy in February 1978.

Navy Seaman Ward E. Beems, the son of William D. Beems of Ester, Romulus, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

During the 8 week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training. Included in his studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid.

He joined the Navy in April 1979.

Navy Seaman Recruit Delvin A. Nelson, the son of Napoleon and Betty J. Nelson of Irma Romulus, has reported for duty aboard the amphibious transport dock USS Duluth, homeported in San Diego, Calif.

A 1978 graduate of Romulus High School, he joined the Navy in December 1978.

Vernco Division recalls portable electric fans

The Vernco Division of the Emerson Electric Co. in Columbus, Ind., has announced it is still trying to contact the owners of some of its portable electric fans which could catch on fire. The firm urges consumers to return the fans for free repairs.

The announcement was made in cooperation with the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

According to the firm, the rotors on some 13- and 19-inch fans may lock, possibly causing the motor to overheat and the plastic components to ignite.

CPSC and the company are concerned that consumers using unrepared fans during the current summer weather are exposing themselves to a potential fire hazard.

Approximately 75 percent of the fans were sold by Sears, Roebuck & Co. These fans are inscribed with the initials "SR" in the center of a plastic fan guard, are light green in color, and stand on a circular plastic base. The 13-inch model sold at a retail price of approximately $30 and the 19-inch for about $50.

The fans marketed directly by Vernco bear the Vernco" inscription on the fan guard. They are light blue, also are mounted on circular stands and were sold at comparable prices through various retailers nationwide.

All of the fans were manufactured in 1973 and 1974.

The fans posing the potential hazard are stamped on the bottom with a 5-digit date code ending with the number 3 or 4, along with Vernco model number V-1001 or V-1003, or Sears number 758.80530 or 758.80550. Consumers who own one of the fans should return it as soon as possible to the place of purchase to arrange for free repair.

Inkster charter vote may be delayed until 1980

WCEC objects to Sept. 11 date

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

The citizens of Inkster may not vote on the proposed city charter until 1980.

That possibility became a distinct probability when the Wayne County Election Scheduling Committee (WCEC) objected to putting the question on the Sept. 11 primary election ballot.

At a meeting last Thursday, the WCEC voted 2-1 to deny the Inkster Charter Commission's request for the Sept. 11 date. Earlier, Circuit Judge George T. Martin had ruled in court that the city must schedule the charter election for Sept. 11 unless the State Attorney General or Wayne County Election Committee had any objections.

The committee objected. "It was the determination of the committee that substantial conflict would exist if the question were placed on the ballot at the same time as the primary candidates," James Killeen, chairman of the WCEC wrote in a July 20 letter to William Tegge, chairman of the Inkster Charter Commission.

"It was moved by the committee that the issue of charter revision appear on the ballot subsequent to the November general election," the letter concluded.

The 4-member WCEC is comprised of the county clerk (Killeen); a city clerk (James Bradley of Detroit); a member of a local school board (Mrs. Shirley Lombardi of Romulus) and a township clerk (Rose Legg of Brownstown Township).

At last Thursday's meeting, Killeen and Bradley voted to deny the request for the Sept. 11 date, while Mrs. Lombardi voted in favor. Mrs. Legg was absent.

Now the matter goes back to Judge Martin's court tomorrow for a hearing for reconsideration of the judge's July 6 ruling that set Sept. 11 for the charter vote.

Orville Tungate, deputy county clerk, said the county scheduling committee found a substantial conflict in approving the Sept. 11 date. He explained that because the proposed charter changes voting district boundaries from their present makeup, it would cause considerable confusion and, in general, create havoc.

Mayor candidate Edward Bivens Jr. was considerably upset by what he calls "these farcical delays in setting the charter election date."

"I believe that the charter should have been given to the people for their vote at an election prior to our established primary and general election dates," said Bivens, who served 2½ years on the Charter Commission and helped draft the document.

Bivens claimed that the efforts of the Charter Commission were constantly hampered during the nearly three years he worked with the group.

Bivens was further dismayed when the scheduling committee voted Thursday to delay the charter vote until after the November general election.

"I talked with James Killeen (county clerk) on three occasions, trying to persuade him to go along with the Aug. 7 charter election date. But his argument each time was the high cost to the city and county to hold special elections," Bivens said.

Bivens said Killeen contradicted himself when he voted last week to deny the Sept. 11 charter date.

"This means that now there will be at least three special elections, in addition to the primary and general election, if the charter passes," Bivens contended.

However, county election scheduling officials said there was no official request from the Inkster Charter Commission for an Aug. 7 charter election vote.

"We had informal discussions with Mr. Braboy (Mike Braboy, charter commission attorney) but there was no official request, to my knowledge, within the specified time limits set by law," Tungate said.

Any request for a special election must be made in writing at least 45 days, and 60 days in the case of some cities, before the date requested. This was not done in the case of the Inkster Charter Commission, county officials said.

Another bone of contention between the Charter Commission and City Council is the number of copies printed of the proposed charter. Five thousand copies were printed this week and delivered to city hall. Another 5,000 copies are scheduled to be printed as legal inserts in editions of the Inkster Ledger-Star, the city's legal publication.

Charter Commissioners are also upset that the final draft of the charter was approved by city officials and not by the members of the Charter Commission, which drafted the proposed new laws.

The College Scene

Duo collects 4.0 averages

Two Belleville residents were awarded 4.0 grade point averages for the spring term at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Named to the honors list were Charles Dougherty of South Biggs Street, who is majoring in psychology, and Jane Salutz of Edgedale Drive.

Also on the college scene: Donna White of Williams Road, Belleville, was among several students named to the spring 1979 Dean's List at the Michigan Technical Institute in Ann Arbor.

Ms. White, who is enrolled in an accounting curriculum, had to have a 3.25 grade point average or better for the term to be named to the honor listing.

Gloria Elaine Smith of Romulus was one of 29 recipients of health career scholarships from the Detroit Metropolitan Chamber of the March of Dimes.

Ms. Smith will attend the University of Toledo to pursue a career in nursing. The scholarship was based on her scholastic ability, motivation, need and acceptance in a health curriculum at an institution of higher learning.

Matthew Gregory Kuzel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kuzel of Belleville, has received his bachelor of engineering degree at the 107th commencement exercise of Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N.J.

A graduate of Belleville High School, his area of concentration was electrical engineering. Kuzel has been named to the Dean's List for academic excellence and was active in the school radio station, WCPB, as well as president of the Newman Association and the Stevens Dramatic Society.

There are about 800 moving parts in a piano and made out of the right materials and put together properly, they should last for about 50 years without need of a major overhaul. The best materials known for making the keys are the same as has been used for years, sugar pine or pomper wood. The best material for the soundboard is spruce from Washington or Oregon. Don't expect ivory keys. They are rarely used today, and when they are, increase the cost of the piano by hundreds of dollars. The strings must be of sturdy quality to withstand average tension of 18 tons in a vertical piano and a possible 30 tons in a grand.

DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, 941-8484 features a complete line of name brand pianos and organs which we feel are the highest quality on the market today. Inquire about our purchase rental plan which allows you to try the instrument of your choice in your own home before making such a major decision. Look for our display at the Wayne County 4-H Fair in Belleville from Aug. 13-18.

MUSIC TIP: Electric pianos are frequently used by rock bands as they are portable.

Hertel bill would make PSC 'more accountable'

State Sen. John Hertel of Harper Woods has introduced legislation which would reorganize the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC), making it more accountable to the public.

"In recent years the PSC has rubber stamped almost every rate increase that comes before them. With the result being a doubling of utility rates in the past five years," Hertel said.

The legislation would make three major changes to the commission. The changes are:

(1) Require that the 3-member commission be elected by the public, rather than appointed by the Governor.

(2) Place the commission staff under control of the legislature in order to audit rate requests to determine if they are accurate and justified.

(3) Provide that stockholders, rather than customers, assume the financial responsibility for unnecessary or inefficient utility plant construction.

"These changes are needed to make the PSC more accountable," continued Hertel. "The commission was created to serve as an independent regulatory agency for the utility monopoly. But has become increasingly clear that the PSC is not responsive to the needs or interests of Michigan's citizens. The utility user in this state has no alternative but to purchase his gas, electricity, or telephone from the utility that services his area. But at the same time, those investors who voluntarily purchase utility stock have been receiving a more than adequate rate of return on their investments, at the expense of the utility consumer.

"Today, the average family of four in Michigan pays more in utility bills than they do in state income tax, and people on fixed incomes are hit the hardest of all."

"I believe that less than 2 percent of Michigan residents know the names of the PSC commissioners. I hope that by making that office an elected one, we will put the commissioners in the public eye and make them accountable to the public and open up the whole process of utility operations to public scrutiny," Hertel concluded.

Distinguished volunteer

Edmund Tomaselli (left) has been named the recipient of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan's (ALASEM) Distinguished Volunteer Service Award. This award, which was presented recently at the Lung Association's annual meeting, was given to Tomaselli for his assistance on three different occasions in administering lung function tests. Tomaselli provided the testing equipment and the technicians to test lungs this spring at "Breathe Easy Sunday," the UAW Collective Bargaining Conference and the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Fitness Run. Tomaselli is the manager of Biomedical and Electronic Services Inc. in Southfield. He resides in Belleville. He received his award from Clyde Recht, representative director of the Lung Association.

Disaster loans available to July 11 flood victims

The District director of the Small Business Administration, Raymond L. Harshman, has announced that Wayne and adjacent counties within Michigan have been declared a disaster area because of physical damage caused by rain, floods and severe thunderstorms, which occurred July 11.

Under the SBA Disaster Program, persons who own homes, tenants, or businesses that were damaged or destroyed by the storm, and persons who suffered personal property losses may apply for direct low interest rate Physical Disaster Loans to restore their properties to predisaster condition.

Businesses that have suffered economic injury as a direct result of the disaster may apply for an Economic Injury Disaster Loan.

Anyone requiring additional information about the Vernco models being recalled should contact Norman Edwards of Vernco at (812) 372-9902. Information about Sears fans can be obtained at any Sears retail store.

Consumers wishing to verify the model numbers may contact CPSC's toll-free Hotline at (800) 638-83261

Such businesses are required to submit documentation showing that the economic injury suffered was directly attributable to the disaster.

Funds received from these loans may be used to provide working capital and to meet financial obligations that otherwise would have been met had the disaster not occurred.

For Economic Injury Disaster Loans, this program requires a business to look to its own assets first, or credit from the private sector, if available at reasonable rates, to meet its financial obligations.

The Physical Disaster Loan applications must be filed on or before Sept. 19, 1979 and Economic Injury Loan applications must be filed on or before April 31, 1980. No applications can be accepted after these dates.

The SBA Disaster Branch Office is located on the mezzanine floor of the McNamara Federal Building, 477

Michigan Avenue, Detroit. Call (313) 226-4030.

In addition to the main office, SBA Disaster representatives will be available at the Taylor City Hall, 23555 Goddard Road, to explain the Disaster Loan Program and provide applications. Call 287-6550.

Of county road paving

Canton officials ponder 'offer' to share costs

Can't beat them? Then join them. That seemed to be the public's attitude regarding a proposal to chip in local funds to the Wayne County Road Commission's coffers to assist in the paving costs for some of Canton Township's more rocky roads.

At least that was the expressed consensus of about 20 homeowners in Canton who, representing subdivision homeowners associations, were present at a special seminar held last Wednesday.

The intent of the seminar, a first for Canton, was to receive public input on key issues of concern in the township.

It costs about $1 million to pave a 1-mile stretch of road, and traditionally, the county road commission, in conjunction with the federal government, has absorbed the full cost.

Recently, however, the road commission has offered local municipalities the proposition of paving roads more expeditiously, if the community agrees to share in the paving costs.

For instance, if the road commission began to pave Warren Road between Canton Center and Lilley roads—one of Canton's rockier roads—for one mile, it would cost Canton $125,000.

That $125,000 represents about one-third of the cost traditionally paid by federal officials.

The formula would work like this: The road commission pays 30 percent of the total cost, federal officials pay 40 percent of the remaining 70 percent, and Canton would pay the 30 percent not absorbed by the federal government.

By helping to absorb some of the costs, Culbert said Canton would have about two to three miles of roads paved each year, above the customary schedule of the road commission, "which is nothing," Culbert snapped.

"They say they're broke, probably from giving themselves too may pay increases... but I've learned that it only backfires when you intimidate them. You get less than nothing," he said.

He said rather than be knocked to the road commission's bottom of its paving priority list, Canton should at least consider the offer.

There would be no special road paving assessment costs to be incurred by residents who live along the roads to be paved, as normally done, if the offer was accepted by Canton.

"That would be waived. I hate to do that anyway, because sometimes you hit an elderly couple up for $50,000 and it really hurts them badly," Culbert explained.

With the township's share being spread township-wide, the cost per homeowner would be about $25 to $30, according to Finance Director Mike Gorman.

Culbert said the revenue received from a potential sale of township-owned industrial acreage could pay the first one mill estimated to be needed to start up the three-way split.

One resident in attendance at the meeting said the only other apparent alternative to the cost-sharing plan would be to expend about $100,000 in a strong "anti-road commission lobbyist group" and fight the issue forcing the road commission to fulfill its legal obligations.

Treasurer James Donahue added, while he does not necessarily subscribe to the theory, some believe by agreeing to the three-way split in paving costs that Canton would be condoning "county mismanagement."

Sawicki is named MESC manager

John Sawicki of Belleville has been named manager of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) Job Service Office in Sturgis by the 5-member board at its June 12 meeting.

Sawicki, an MESC employee for more than 10 years, was selected for his supervisory experience with MESC's Job Service and unemployment insurance operations and for his excellent rapport with area employers, city officials and MESC staff.

As manager of the Sturgis staff, Sawicki will be responsible for its overall operation. The office offers the full range of MESC employment services, including job bank, a computerized listing of job openings available through MESC offices; job referrals; job interviewing and job testing. Unemployment insurance benefits also are distributed through the office to the eligible unemployed.

Sawicki has a bachelor of arts degree in psychology from Wayne State University and currently is working on a masters degree in business administration at Eastern Michigan University.

Sawicki replaces June Cotton who was promoted to manager of the Ypsilanti office.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP REGULAR BOARD MEETING MINUTES - July 24, 1979, 46425 Tyler Rd. Belleville, MI. 48111.
Supervisor Cullin called the meeting to order at 7:32 p.m. Pledge of allegiance. Board Members present: Supervisor Cullin, Clerk Craven, Deputy Treasurer Mussehl, Trustees: Maton, Domen, Hall and Welty. Absent: Treasurer York. Also present: Attorney James, Engineers Levine and Wilhelm and Secretary Dudick.

Motion Maton, Support Domen to accept the minutes of the Regular Board Meeting of July 10, 1979 as presented. CARRIED.

AUDIENCE: Ruth Ann Hoagland of 951 Savage Rd. asked if any Public Hearings had been held or were there any being scheduled concerning the enactment of a Disorderly Conduct Ordinance that had been discussed in May and were the Township Police employed by the Oddfellows Hall "On Duty" or "Off Duty" when they are working at the Hall.

Chief John Willet and Supervisor Cullin stated that the Policemen were "Off Duty" and paid regular Policemens wages by the Oddfellows Hall. Attorney James said that copies of a Disorderly Conduct Ordinance has been distributed to the Board for their study.

Supervisor Cullin indicated that the ordinance would be presented at a meeting in the near future for discussion by the Board and if Mrs. Hoagland would like to be notified when this is scheduled the Clerks Office would be happy to do so.

Hearing no other comments from the audience the Supervisor closed that portion of the meeting.

Correspondence. A letter from the United Foundation was read by Clerk Craven requesting Township endorsement and support the Torch Drive campaign to be held from Monday October 15 through Thursday November 8.

Motion Hall, support Mussehl to send a letter to the United Foundation indicating Township support for the Torch Drive Campaign. CARRIED.
A letter from the City of Belleville, expressing their appreciation for the complimentary passes for "Family Day" for Belleville residents was read by Clerk Craven.

Motion Maton, Support Craven to send a letter of recognition and thanks to Eugene Miller in response to his letter of resignation from Fire Department No. 1 for his many years of dedicated service to our community. CARRIED.

Supervisor, Cullin read a copy of a letter sent to Commissioner William Joyner from the Wayne County Road Commission indicating a study had been done of the Tyler Road - Belleville Road intersection and the Haggerty Road - McBride intersection in regard to traffic signal installation. The study confirms the need for a signal at Tyler Rd. and Belleville Rd. and it will be installed in 1979. No signal will be installed at Haggerty and McBride as the traffic study indicated no need at this time.

Motion Hall, support Welty to table Item No. 1 under Old Business, "The reconsideration of Liquor License for Dino's Pizzeria Inc. until the end of Old Business allowing Mr. Nelson time to arrive to speak for the applicants. CARRIED.

Motion Hall, support Craven to authorize the development of an application for Department of Energy Construction Grant Funds for the French Landing Dam Project. CARRIED.

Based on a referral to them from the Township Board, the Recreation Commission, after review and study, recommends to the Board that the Van Buren Park opening hours during the week be returned to the original 10 am time. A study will then be conducted by the Park staff to determine the number of citizens using the park between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon.

Motion Hall, support Welty to begin on July 30, 1979 opening the Van Buren Park at 10 a.m. and that the news media be notified of the change in opening time. CARRIED.

Mr. Nelson representing the Haggerty Road Shopping Center arrived, tabled Item No. 1 was brought back to the table. The reconsideration of a Liquor License approved on July 11, 1978 for Dino's Inc. and Walby Enterprises, for a combination Bowling Alley and Restaurant.

Mr. Nelson, as developer, indicated to the Board that at present Dino's Inc. and Walby Enterprises are no longer interested in the combined project as approved by the Board but the Shopping Center is still interested in the project and backers are available for the project if the Liquor License is still available. Building Costs have escalated and at present Mr. Nelson is making a presentation to the Economic Development Corp. for assistance. After much discussion with the Board and Mr. Nelson, Motion Hall, support Welty to table the item until the next Board Meeting that occurs after a meeting has been held of the E.D.C. CARRIED.

Motion Craven, support Mussehl to approve the Water Departments purchasing of 6 Well Points in the most economical manner possible. CARRIED.
John Cottrill, Water Department Head will research the purchasing of the points in a complete package and the possibility of the Water Department purchasing the items necessary separately at a savings.

Daniel Couzens addressed the Board in regard to a partial reimbursement for a fence he erected that borders on Township Property.

Supervisor Cullin referred Mr. Couzens to Stan Price, Head of the Building Department, to research the request and return to the Board with a recommendation.

Motion Domen, support Welty to notify the Liquor Control Commission that the Township approves the waiver of any part of the license fee for the current year for the Loyal Order of Moose, Belleville Lodge 934 if their request is granted to move from the City of Belleville to the Township of Van Buren. CARRIED.

Mark Rairick, Recreation Director and John Cottrill, Water Department Head discussed with the Board the Denton Road Entrance to Van Buren Park is being eroded by natural spring waters constantly running from the sides of the roadway. A pipe line to divert this water is needed to alleviate the deterioration of the road.

John Cottrill explained that this pipe line will not prevent the washing out of the road in the event of a rain storm but it will stop the everyday constant erosion and eliminate the constant need for road grading.

Motion Hall, support Domen to approve the installation of drain tile in the Denton Road entrance road to Van Buren Park as recommended by Mr. Rairick and Mr. Cottrill. CARRIED.

Motion Hall, support Craven to approve a resolution granting easement for the road drainage storm sewer servicing the proposed Terra Del Lago Subdivision. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Maton to adopt the Uniform Traffic Code Amendment as presented and recommended by Attorney James. CARRIED.

Motion Hall, support Craven to publish the Uniform Traffic Code Amendment in the Ypsilanti Press as soon as possible. The new ordinance will take effect 30 days after publication. CARRIED.

Motion Hall, support Welty to approve submitting an application for a grant for funds to be used for an assistant to the Senior Citizen Coordinator. Assistant to be selected by the Supervisor and Community Developer with approval of the Township Board. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Mussehl to approve payment of Sanitary Sewer Evaluation Survey Invoice No. 7. ($685.48) CARRIED.

Attorney James reported to the Board that he has offered his legal services to the Belleville Moose Lodge in their attempt to relocate in Van Buren Township and to state that he did not feel this was in any way a conflict of interest because of his representation of the Township.

Engineer Wilhelm reported that the Kirkridge Condominium Water & Sewer connections are almost completed and that the units are selling quite well.

Supervisor Cullin asked Mr. Wilhelm if he had done any research into the road problems the new residents have been complaining about. Mr. Wilhelm explained that the heavy equipment used for the various underground installations has caused most of the problems and that as soon as construction is completed that road will be completely redone.

Motion Maton, support Domen to receive and file the Police Department, Senior Citizen and Recreation Department reports as presented. CARRIED.

Motion Maton, support Craven to approve the Water and Sewer Department Voucher List and the General Fund Voucher List as presented. CARRIED.
Announcements as follows: Van Buren Township has received the following Grant monies: Dam Grant form Department of Labor, $1.6 Million; Community Development Block Grant - Innovation Grant, $90,000; C.D.B.G. Housing Rehabilitation Grant, $44,700; and a C.D.B.G. Special Needs Grant, $27,927.

Motion Maton, support Craven to send a letter to the Wayne County Road Commission requesting the ditches be mowed for traffic safety reasons. CARRIED.

Chief John Willet announced that there will be a Car Wash on August 11 and August 25 at Fire Department No. 1 just off Main St. in the City of Belleville put on by the Police Department for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy.

Supervisor Cullin announced that Sunday July 29th is Family Day and it is her hope and that of the Board that all the citizens will attend and that the event will become a very successful annual event helping to provide our citizens with an opportunity to get together along with introducing new residents to our Park facility.

Motion Hall, support Welty to adjourn. CARRIED.
Meeting adjourned at 8:50 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Doreen Craven, Clerk

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE NO. 7-24-79

An Ordinance to amend the Uniform Traffic Code Ordinance heretofore adopted by this Township by amendment of Section 9.3 which is entitled "Penalties" and the addition thereto of a new Section 9.3 (a) to provide for procedures to process civil infractions; and to repeal all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict therewith.

THE TOWNSHIP OF VAN BUREN ORDAINS:

SECTION 1.

Section 9.3 of the Uniform Traffic Code Ordinance previously adopted by this Township on the 7th day of March, 1969, through Van Buren Township Ordinance No. 1969-1, as amended, which Section is entitled "Penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows:

Violation of any provision of this Ordinance not constituting a civil infraction as that term is used and defined under the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Code of the State of Michigan, being 1949 PA 300 as amended, and 1978 PA 510 shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $100.00 or imprisonment for not more than 90 days or by both such fine and imprisonment, unless another penalty is expressly provided herein.

SECTION II.

The said Uniform Traffic Code Ordinance previously adopted by this Township on the 7th day of March, 1969, through Van Buren Township Ordinance No. 1969-1 as amended, is hereby amended by the addition thereto of a new subsection 9.3 (a) to read as follows:

Any provision of this Ordinance which describes an act or omission which constitutes a civil infraction under the terms of the Motor Vehicle Code of the State of Michigan, being 1949 PA 300 as amended, and 1978 PA 510, shall be processed as a civil infraction under the procedures set forth in said Motor Vehicle Code. Violation of any provision of this Ordinance which is designated as a civil infraction in the said Motor Vehicle Code is not a crime and shall not be punishable by imprisonment or a penal fine. If a person is determined to be responsible or responsible "with explanation" for a civil infraction, the judge, referee or district court magistrate may order such person to pay a civil fine of not more than $100.00 along with costs which may include all expenses, direct and indirect, to which this Township has been put in connection with the civil infraction. In no case, however, shall costs be ordered in excess of $100.00.

SECTION III.

This Ordinance shall take effect on the 26th day of August, 1979. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

For your safety: The games people play...

(For Your Safety is an ongoing crime prevention column provided by the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police, a state-wide law enforcement association, dedicated to greater police professionalism.)

By JACK BROWN
PRESIDENT
MICHIGAN FRATERNAL ORDER OF POLICE

There are as many con games to be played — even on a suspecting public — as there are con men. One member of the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police told me recently that he compares the number of confidence schemes to the number of stars in the sky.

However, many varieties or types, there is a basic theme that is common to all con schemes — they play on greed and the touch of larceny that seems to lurk in the hearts of everybody at one time or another. There appears to be "something for nothing", and there are few of us that can resist it.

If you've a touch of larceny in your heart, or still can honestly believe in getting something for nothing — there is little that myself or my comrades can do for you, except perhaps to nod solicitously as we fill out your complaint form and try to apprehend and prove whatever charges you may file against a suspect.

But we can share with you the recurring schemes that crop up again and again in station-house gossip or police reports. We can only hope that familiarity with them may help you resist their time-tested allure to human frailty.

THE UNBEATABLE BARGAIN

You are offered a color TV set at a bargain price, say $100. It may be brand new — a lost shipment, replaced through insurance, an excess at a local store that went unnoticed in the records, or candidly and frankly, it may be openly admitted that it is "hot", or stolen. Whatever approach, you can buy it for a fraction of its real worth.

Service? No problem, the schemer will tell you. It's best, of course, to avoid a regular repair shop or factory facility on the outside chance it may be recognized as one of the "lost" or stolen sets. The con man will convince you of his honesty by refusing any money (usually) until the set is delivered, and he has a reputable friend who will provide service and guarantee the set.

The set is delivered as promised. You pay. Within a week, usually, the set needs service and you call the special number for service. The repairman comes and says he has to take it to the shop for repair. You'll never see the set again. A call to the repair number, and you are told that the police confiscated the set — and you were "lucky" they found it in the shop and not at your home.

So what are you going to do? Call a cop? We don't see this one on official police reports, but we do know it is going on. Now, so do you.

THE 'FOUND' FORTUNE

A time-tested perennial favorite of bunco artists, this scheme often attracts elderly people who seem peculiarly vulnerable to it:

Money is found — either directly by you, or by a nearby stranger. If you find it, the stranger approaches you and tells you that he saw you find it and may demand a share. If he finds it, he'll ask you for assistance.

Now that the stranger is involved — he may appeal to your honesty and suggest a serious effort be made to find the rightful owner before both of you could legally lay claim to the find. The clinger, of course, is you both must keep the "found" money in a safe place. He'll offer to put up some of his own money to show good faith and ask you, or convince you, to do the same.

Few people can resist. What follows is a sequence of sleight of hand whereby you are soon without your own money and left with worthless packet of newspaper clippings. There are many variations — and if you think that even police know them all, two more probably have been devised by schemers even as you read this.

THE OFFICIAL INVESTIGATOR

There's a little bit of policeman in all of us — and one particular con scheme plays on this insight into human nature.

A special investigator is out to trap a dishonest bank clerk at YOUR bank. You usually are approached by telephone and asked to maintain absolute secrecy — "Don't even tell your relatives, your wife (or husband) or friends!"

Your cooperation is requested — for any of a variety of reasons ... the teller may be one responsible for your own account, or the investigator has reason to believe that your account may be affected.

Who could refuse to co-operate? (But why not ask for proper credentials, and verify such identification with local authorities?)

As part of the scheme you'll be asked to withdraw funds from your account, and have the bill's "marked" or placed in "protective custody." Again, there are many variations. But the money is removed from a perfectly safe place to a place where the schemer has access to it, eventually permanently.

Special days mark fair

This year's Michigan State Fair will be special.

Besides marking the 130th anniversary of its founding in 1849, making it the nation's oldest, the 1979 State Fair will be the first under the direction of the State Department of Natural Resources. The fair previously was run by the State Department of Agriculture.

This year's fair will be made up of several special days, including Clowns Day Aug. 25, Fabulous '50s Day Aug. 26, Senior Citizens Day Aug. 27, Agriculture Day Aug. 28, Queen's Day Aug. 29, Governor's Day Aug. 30, Service Club Day Aug. 31, Veterans Day Sept. 1 and International Day Sept. 2.

The grand opening parade will be on Aug. 23, with the fair's opening day to be Aug. 24. It will close Labor Day, Sept. 3.

Most days will include free entertainment, contests and prizes. Information on participating in any of the special events can be obtained by contacting the Michigan State Fair at 368-1000.

Admission will be $3, with children under 12 admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Thistle plant studied

A "Thistle Stop" will be held at the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock on Sunday at 2 p.m.

Naturalist Bob Wittersheim will help visitors explore the micro-habitats of the thistle plant. A fascinating variety of animal life is attracted to these plants for food and shelter. Bring a magnifying glass for a closer look into this seldom-seen world. Vehicle entry permits are required.

For additional details contact the nature center at Oakwoods Metropark at 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

Contagious?

Courtesy is contagious, and the Traffic Safety Association of Detroit hopes to start an epidemic among drivers.

Courteous driving is a safer way to drive.

"More than 25 percent of all traffic accidents are caused by failure to signal, by improper lane turning maneuvers and lane changes," said Howard Cox, president of the TSA of Detroit. "Let Your Courtesy Show" is TSA's current special emphasis program urging drivers to signal lane changes, signal turns and yield the right of way for those exiting from driveways and parking lots, among other courteous driving acts.

"Courteous driving means accident and violation-free driving, and with a little extra effort, we can all have a more enjoyable time on the road."

Editorial opinions

Trouton Drain

The deplorable situation surrounding the Trouton Drain in Romulus, once more points up the need for pollution law with muscle.

The drain which abuts residential property, has been serving as the receptacle for the discharge of contaminated ground water runoff from a local chemical plant and is creating not only an unnecessary stench, but poses a potential health problem as well.

While the current operators of the plant claim that they inherited the problem from their predecessors, the affected residents remain unimpressed with arguments coming from the operators that they cannot afford the necessary clean-up.

As so often happens, only after the problem has reached almost unmanageable proportions, is action contemplated.

We can't help but wonder where the state's muscle was when the problem with the Trouton Drain was first reported.

We feel that the history of the area's use should be investigated. Should it be found that the current operators of the plant are responsible for the mess, they should be forced to correct the situation. If it is found, as they claim, that they have simply inherited the problem from the prior operators, the state should provide the funds for the clean-up and then go after polluters for restitution.

But regardless of blame, residents of the area should not have to live with the by-products of industrial processes which compromise their ability to live a decent and normal life in their homes.

The time for talk is past. It is now time for action.

Congratulations to Van Buren.

A good idea, well implemented provided the citizens of Van Buren and surrounding areas with a pleasant Sunday.

The first, and we hope not last, Van Buren Family Day provided many with an opportunity of meeting their neighbors for a day of family fun and recreation.

We have often said in the past that events like the Van Buren Family Day provide area residents with a renewed sense of identity and positive feelings for their community.

Today, with the move toward bigger, it is a pleasant change of pace for people to participate in a community sponsored and run affair designed only to restore a measure of their lost pride in the town they call home.

We applaud all those who were involved in the organization of the Family Day, and urge them to keep up the good work.

It is not likely that those people who devoted so much of their time to the event, were buried with thanks for their efforts. But it goes without saying that the community is better for their work.

We are sure that we speak for many in the community when we say, "Good job". See you next year.

To our readers:

This page in the Associated Newspapers is being made available to the residents of the communities we serve.

Anyone of any age is invited to submit an open letter to their community or to the editor of Associated Newspapers.

We will publish letters on any subject. If you feel you have a plan for solving a city problem, or wish to comment on someone else's plan, this space is being reserved for you.

If you or your group would like to address the community at large, or just an individual, this space is reserved for you.

If you think you can do it better, cheaper, faster, or with more flair, this is the place to tell everyone about it.

You are invited to send your opinions on events, or items of public interest, to the editor of Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Names will be withheld from letters published only for very good reason. The reason must be included in the letter.

The editor reserves the right to edit and/or condense letters where necessary.

Associated Newspapers has just given you a public voice. If a story is worth telling to your neighbor, why not tell it to your whole community.

Court reorganization materializes

By ROBERT LAW
State Representative
36th District

The long-awaited court reorganization of Wayne County looks like it is finally going to materialize during the current budget year.

The Appropriations Committee of the Michigan Legislature through the General Government Budget Bill, has set up the basic funding mechanism for court reorganization in Wayne County and for the beginning of state assumption of the courts throughout the state of Michigan.

In the general government appropriation as recently passed, the change in the funding formula for all judges was approved. Basically the change is that the maximum salary of all judges, as of January 1, 1980, based on a percentage of the salary paid to the Michigan Supreme Court Justices. The final percentages as agreed to are: a Court of Appeals Judge would receive 94 percent of the salary paid to a Supreme Court Justice; a Circuit Court Judge would receive 92 percent; a Probate Court Judge would receive 88 percent; a District Court Judge would receive 84 percent of the Supreme Court Justice salary rate.

As of January 1, the Supreme Court Justices' salary will be set at $60,500.00 and the maximum salary which could be paid to a circuit court judge anywhere in the state of Michigan will be equal to 92 percent of that salary base or $55,660.00.

Of this amount, the state pays the basic supplement of $33,275.00 and this figure includes the 7.8 percent raise given by the state of Michigan to these judges throughout Michigan.

The local counties would then have the flexibility of giving a local supplement of anywhere from zero to up to $22,385.00 to Circuit Court Judges in their area.

Wayne County presently pays approximately $17,900.00 as their local match for a total of about $47,000.00 plus cost of living increases of $3-4 thousand per year. Under the new system, circuit court judges in Wayne County would go from approximately $52,000.00 to over $55,000.00, a 6.8 percent increase overall in total compensation.

Under the new system, there would be no cost of living increases built in for any judges in Michigan. The unique feature to the Wayne County program is that the state will assume, as of January 1, 1980, full funding for all circuit court judges in Wayne County.

This will provide approximately, on an annual basis, $11 million of aid to Wayne County, to pay for the personnel costs of judges running the Wayne County court system.

It is the first step in the court reorganization and state-wide uniformity plan that has been recommended for the past few years. The program also provides financial relief to an extremely destitute county of Wayne.

The new funding mechanism and the appropriation of the $11 million dollars to the County of Wayne is directly tied to enabling legislation for the court reorganization plan. The present concept envisions combining the present Wayne County Circuit Court Judges with the Recorder's Court and Common Pleas Judges in Detroit. Recorder and Circuit Court Judges would form a new court bench to be funded by the state of Michigan and the Common Pleas Court would be divided into district courts in compliance with the judicial arrangements throughout the rest of the State. This would not only provide better continuity of judicial agreements in the County but also provide significant financial assistance to Wayne County.

Editor's log

Under a Tennessee Pine

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

While resting under one of nature's creations, a towering Pine, at a Camp Ground in Tennessee, I listened and watched intently as President Carter outlined his new energy policy.

The family had left for the vacation while Carter and his aides were still huddled in secrecy at Camp David. A week later, roughing it in the wilderness, we watched on the 12 volt portable television, the long awaited message outlining how our country was going to overcome the problems associated with our growing dependence on imported fuels.

We watched, waited, and listened, but still learned little if anything new.

— Windfall profits tax WILL BE APPROVED BY CONGRESS, and the proceeds earmarked for the research and development of synthetic fuel.

— We all will suffer and be forced to make sacrifices.

— Not a drop of new oil will be imported above the levels of 1977.

— We must all make a commitment to solving the problems which government has hung around our necks.

I must admit that I was impressed by the president's comments. Not impressed by his plan but impressed by the fact that he would have brought himself to make such an appeal.

While watching his message, our campsite was lit by the glow of a Coleman lantern fueled most likely by imported fuels. Likewise, our evening snack was warmed on the top of a Coleman camping stove also powered by imported fuel. In such a situation it was natural to wonder if what the president had in mind was a return nationwide, to the rustic life style of our forefathers.

Probably not, at least not for the White House, but the message the president provided was clear.

The failure of government and our elected leaders to react to the forecasted oil shortages provided ten years ago, would mean that today, all of us would have to pay the bill.

It appears that today, government, has come closer to understanding that its regulations have been chiefly responsible for current energy problems, but still our elected officials are unable to face the wrath of the voters by doing what is necessary to solve the problem permanently. De-regulate oil completely.

Instead, Carter tenaciously clings to his demands for a Windfall Profits Tax. A tax which promises to deprive the oil companies of the profits which could finance energy independence for our nation.

Where is the logic? Perhaps, the logic lies more with politics than with energy.

The very elected officials who now represent us in government appear unwilling to trust the system which has elevated them to positions of power and influence.

This country was built on the premise of free enterprise and competition. But where is the competition between oil companies that are forced by government to fix prices.

Where is the free enterprise in a system which tells a producer of goods that they may not charge a reasonable price for those goods.

Resting in the 'dark against that tree in Tennessee, the thought occurred to me that the ultimate solution to our country's energy problems, like it or not, rests with complete decontrol of oil.

I do not view the coming $2 a gallon price for gasoline with much pleasure. But the alternatives look even less pleasant.

The family vacation to Tennessee required the use of about 100 gallons of gasoline. In 1970, the trip would have cost about $35. In 1975, the trip would have cost about $60. Two weeks ago, the trip cost nearly $100. Tomorrow and after, the trip may in fact, not be possible at all, unless government and its leaders soon accept the fact that the system we have ridden to new heights of productivity and personal freedoms, does, can, and will work if it is allowed to.

If we are truly the government, then it is also true that if you seek the enemy, look no further than yourself.

Carter wants a return to the spirit of old to resolve the energy shortage.

Unfortunately, government has, all but destroyed that spirit.

Sheriff is thanked

Editor:
In the evening of Friday, July 6 while we were away, our house was broken into and robbed.

We reported it to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

I was so impressed with the officers that came to our house July 6 and July 9. Officer Ken Lashaska, Officer John Leabu, Officer Bill Wadsworth, also an officer of whom we didn't have his name.

They were polite and genuinely concerned regarding what happened.

If they are an example of what we have as Law Enforcement Officers, then we have a team to be proud of. God bless all of you.

Women thank merchants

Editor:
The Huron Valley Charter Chapter of the American Business Womens Association wishes to thank Andrew Drugs and M & L Automotive for allowing us to set up our bake sale tables during the Strawberry Festival.

Mike McComb of M & L Automotive donated a "car care" kit to the chapter to raffle off to help them earn extra money for their scholarship fund.

Their kindness was greatly appreciated and contributed greatly for the successful bake sale.

Ask Carol Premo

By CAROL PREMO, C.S.W.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

You are invited to ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Dear Carol,
God is said to be merciful and loving. Our world is filled with pain and suffering. As a loving and merciful father, why does he allow his children to endure so much anguish?
One of his children

Dear One,
There are probably a number of different answers to this question and although I am no expert in this area and don't pretend to be, you asked me my opinion and I'll give it.

My understanding is that when God created mankind He gave us free will. With that free will God expected us to love Him and follow His word. Maybe a lot of pain and anguish we suffer comes from exercising our free will and choosing not to follow Him (war, crime, hatred, etc.).

This, of course, doesn't explain natural disasters and the pain suffered from them. It has however seemed to me that sometimes people who do believe in a supreme being are able to deal with their pain better than those who do not.

I hope this has been of some help but if this is an area of concern which really bothers you, perhaps, it would be best to talk with an expert such as a priest, minister, rabbi or leader of your respective religion.

Dear Carol,
I have a difficult decision to make - do I tell an acquaintance in her forties she eats as noisily as a two year old?
I was recently very embarrassed while dining with this individual when she proceeded to chomp, gurgle and make other loud noises. I was amazed at this behavior, as well as puzzled - how did she reach her forties with this disgusting habit?
Needs Earplugs

Dear Needs,
By all means tell the poor woman. You may assume that because she is in her forties she is conscious of her behavior. That is not necessarily true. Tell her in private, be gentle and tactful and be prepared for her not to appreciate your criticism.

Dear Carol,
At a recent pool party during the flurry of introductions, I encountered a situation that left me frustrated. The host was introducing me to a fellow guest, who just happened to be a physician.
In the introduction he (the host) used his title (how I found out he was a doctor) and his last name while addressing me by my first name. I was somewhat irritated - I feel I was subtly slighted, put lower on the social, academic and economic ladders as well as having some male supremacy tossed off as socially acceptable. How do I deal with this sort of situation effectively?
Slighted

Dear Slighted,
The most effective way to deal with this problem is to correct the person making the introductions at the time. Then you could explain that you prefer introductions of equivalent formality or informality. Unequal introductions can be as you suggested a form of one upmanship. If the host chooses to use the title doctor for his guest then you should also be accorded a title of respect. A sensitive host should not feel criticized but rather be glad to accommodate his guests by introducing them appropriately and making all concerned comfortable.

Only faces change

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

The sun is hot and heavy humidity has settled itself in the atmosphere. I am sitting in the dining room with soft breezes coming in the window, stirred by the two fans on opposite sides of the room. There is no breeze outside.

And I am trying to write. There are four kids fighting in the front yard. They are my grandchildren who are spending a few weeks with their ever-loving, patient grandmother, and it takes me back a few years when the four kids fighting in the backyard were my own kids.

The faces are a bit different, but there has been no change in kids in the last twenty-five years that I can see.

I've heard teachers say that kids are different now, but when I flipped off the television and lifted kids by the seat of their pants a few hours ago, I saw no difference in the resistance.

"But it's my favorite program." (whine)
"What is the program?"
"Whew."

"That program is Archie Bunker."
"But, gee whiz, Grandma, Whew will be on after Archie Bunker."

Because kids and television blaring at me in the early morning hours is anathema to me, I closed my ears to their cries and booted them out.

Standing on the edge of the soft shade cast by the huge, old trees, they looked piteously at me.

"It's hot out here."
"Take two steps and you will be in the shade."

"I'm thirsty."
"You just drank a full jug of orange juice."

"I'm still thirsty."
"Why don't you play ball, or ride your bicycle, or better yet, walk over to the park and go swimming."

"Will you drive us?"
"It's only two blocks."
"It's hot."

It's the same old routine. It is almost as if I had recorded the conversation twenty years ago, cut out some paper dolls today and played that old tape.

"You kids stay out, do you understand? I am going to write." And so I sit here, waiting for the muse to strike, sounds of quarreling rising above the whirr of the fans, but I pretend not to hear. "They aren't my kids," I mutter to myself.

The screen door bangs. "Grandma, it's hot out here."

"It's not hot," I shout. "Stay out there and play."

The voices subside, the plaintive wails cease, and I write the word "Reflections."

"If it's not hot, how come you have TWO fans?" a small seven year old voice whispers, and the body that goes with the voice flops down in front of the fan and pants like a big, overgrown puppy.

That must have been a signal, for six other legs leaped over the fans and three other bodies are puffing and panting on the floor, while the cool breeze ruffles their shorts and the window curtain flies gently over their bare tummies.

It could have been 20 years ago!

Parental pitfalls

Love that Summer Camp!

By SHERRY WAINES

Children love camp. Parents love it even more. Camp means two whole weeks for each concerned party to exercise their independence. Of course this is not mentioned prior to departure but you can bet that INDEPENDENCE is at the top of everybody's mental list of "things to do while away at camp".

Children's list might include such things as: When I'm away at camp I'm only going to brush my teeth once a week and only then so that mother won't see that the toothpaste tube is still full. Independence!!!

Packing a flashlight is a sure sign that the child is hoping to be able to break curfew and spend a few nights exploring the area at night. The thought that he might not be forced to take a shower everynight is just great.

The list may also include plans of skipping craft class to take a dip in the lake, finding and capturing snakes to scare girls with.

There is no telling what type of independent adventure lurks in the minds of children going off to camp.

The parents mental list may include such plans as: two whole weeks of peace and quiet. No reason to have to hire a babysitter; we can do what we want for as long as we want, when we want to, do whatever it is we are going to do! Independence!!!

Plans of going out to dinner and then a show and maybe even going out for breakfast until four o'clock in the morning. Just thinking of the mornings of not having to get up at dawn to fix breakfast is sheer ecstasy.

No laundry. Simple dinners for two so that the evenings can be spent concentrating on more important things.

I know one couple who is planning a long week-end to Niagara Falls together, alone, by themselves, just the two of them. Alone, together is something they haven't experienced for fifteen years, ever since their first of four children was born.

Another happy couple is planning two weeks of camping by themselves. They started packing their gear months ago. The kids don't leave for camp until next week.

The camp-site that this couple reserved is only twenty miles from home. Which only goes to prove that it's not the distance - it's the thought of being alone that counts.

There is no telling what type of independent adventure lurks in the minds of parents whose children are spending two weeks at camp.

Oh, isn't camp wonderful? Then why do parents spend most of the two weeks worrying if their kids are safe, clean and happy? Are they homesick? Please, don't let them get sick. Will he put clean underwear on everyday?

As for the children it's: "Mr. Independence" walks out the door. After two weeks of camp it's: "Mr. Glad to be home" walks in.

Ford Thunderbird

Special incentives from Ford to its dealers make lower prices possible.

Now through August 20, Ford Dealers will be getting special Ford incentives on Thunderbirds, LTD's and Mustang Pace car replicas plus V-8 pickups, vans, Broncos, Rancheros and Club Wagons. This massive program is designed to help dealers lower selling prices and move out big stocks in preparation for the 1980 Ford car and truck introductions. It's truly a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for smart buyers.

EPA mileage estimates show Fords go the distance.

Driving a long-range Ford can make a big difference today. Thunderbird, for example, can go from 294 to 420 miles per tankful, based on its 21-gallon tank and EPA estimated 14 MPG for city driving and 20 MPG for highway. A driver's mileage will vary depending on speed, distance and weather, and highway mileage and range will probably be lower than estimates. However, a 27.5-gallon tank is standard on Town Landau and Heritage models, optional on others. It greatly extends Thunderbird's range.

Buyers can save hundreds of dollars now.

The Ford incentive program makes possible bigger discounts than at any other time this year. People who have hesitated to buy because of the economy, or have been holding out for greater savings should act now. It's doubtful if prices will ever be this low again.

Giant selection of new Ford cars and trucks.

Ford District office reports that stocks in dealer hands are among the largest ever. Even though customers can no longer order vehicles built to their specifications, a truly fabulous choice is available. Dealers have a great variety of body styles, colors and option levels to offer.

Buyers can walk right in, drive right out.

There's not a lot of haggling over price these days. A typical buyer can close the deal on the Ford car or truck he wants in a matter of minutes. Most dealers have made special arrangements for rapid financing approvals, too. They say "nobody walks out" and many Fords are already "prepped" for immediate delivery. This is the biggest clearance sale local Ford Dealers have ever held. It has the backing of Ford in the form of incentives to lower prices. And it's in full swing with savings just waiting to be snapped up.

Anniversary party to fete Mr. & Mrs. Glenn Herzog

Former Romulus superintendent of schools and Mrs. Glenn W. Herzog of Lakeview, Mich. will be honored at a 50th wedding anniversary party on Sunday in Lakeview.

All of their friends in Romulus and Belleville and surrounding areas are invited to join them on this happy occasion, including former students and teaching staff members. A buffet dinner will be served beginning at 1 p.m. in the new Lakeview High School cafeteria. No reservations are needed. The honorees will be honored by the presence of their friends, and request no gifts please.

This golden wedding affair is being hosted by the three Herzog daughters and their families Marilyn Delo of Blanchard, Mich. Helen Kay Roberts of Sterling Heights, and Glenna Dagher of Pennsylvania.

Herzog came to Romulus High School to coach athletics in 1928, fresh out of Michigan State Normal College. He became superintendent of schools in 1931 and remained so until he resigned in 1946. He was appointed Romulus postmaster in June 1946 and two years later resigned to return to the Lakeview area where he was born and reared.

Mrs. Herzog is the former Melba Coomer, a native of Belleville. The couple first met at Romulus High School where she was principal. She also taught Latin and home economics for a number of years. The couple built their home at 12121 Elmview, Romulus, where they lived until they moved to Lakeview in the fall of 1948.

Supt. Herzog served the Romulus community in a unique era when the new high school at 11401 Olive was built and supported by District No. 1 alone. His years were marked with many "firsts": He was the first full-time athletic coach. He and his athletes built the first RHS athletic field with their own efforts during the Depression years. RHS became accredited by the North Central Education Association's highest rating (3 years).

With a brand new high school and a "first" gymnasium, the school became the center of the Romulus community activities. Alumni dances were important social events for all of the young people. The crowd came early every Friday night at the gymnasium to see the girls' basketball team headline the league competition along with the boys varsity and reserves.

The "first" RHS band made its debut in 1936 with Clarence Luchman as director. The high school got a new 4-room addition with local WPA labor so more tuition students from rural grade schools in Romulus could be accommodated. When there was no money to meet the monthly payroll, the teachers and staff volunteered and completed the year without salary in one particular Depression year. Supt. Herzog advocated a no-smoking, no-drinking policy among athletes, student body, and teaching staff, and practiced what he preached.

The township voted to reorganize June 15, 1946. At that time East Tyler, Mt. Pleasant, Hayti No. 3, Cory, Woodville, Hall, Hale and Texas rural grade schools joined with District No. 1 to become Romulus Township School District. Overnight they became equal owners of District No. 1 High School facilities and vice versa.

Divorce: Emotionally, financially devastates

According to reliable estimates, four of every 10 American marriages end in divorce, four of five divorcees will remarry and approximately 40 percent of those individuals will divorce again.

In addition to the severe psychological and emotional factors that accompany the dissolution of the marriage contract, divorce is one of the most devastating financial events a family can sustain (ranked second only to death and the loss of a wage earner's job).

It's paradoxical, but the key element in determining whether a divorce proceeding runs smoothly (and economically) hinges upon the ability of both erstwhile marriage partners to cooperate. Mutual cooperation speeds the distribution of family assets, resolves the question of child support and helps to assure equitable distribution of property.

Although divorce procedures traditionally have been characterized by petty squabbles over possessions and legal entanglements, the financial problems of divorce can be reduced. According to a consumer specialist at the Michigan Consumer Education Center, based at Eastern Michigan University, there are some effective guidelines for settling money matters in divorce.

Marilyn Gunther, an associate director at the Michigan Consumer Education Center, recently helped write a consumer's guidebook for handling the financial aspects of divorce, titled "Money Matters in Divorce."

According to Gunther's booklet, which is designed as a teaching module for consumer education teachers in Michigan, several simple steps can help reduce the cost of the divorce. They include communicating honestly about income, expenses and the location of important family records; considering do-it-yourself divorce kits for simple uncontested divorces when children are not involved; realizing that negotiations can break down during the proceeding over simple items and that the final settlement will be a compromise for both parties; and avoiding a custody suit over the children, if possible, since a prolonged legal battle will raise the cost of the divorce and can be emotionally painful for the children.

A former consumer specialist at Iowa State University, she stresses that do-it-yourself divorce kits can be both an economical and practical solution to drawn out divorce procedures.

"They start from as low as $15 per kit, plus additional court costs. The kit should only be used when the property settlement is simple and there are not children involved ... You also have to check to make sure that the kit is applicable to the county in which you reside," Gunther cautioned.

Choosing a good divorce lawyer is an important step for those who seek legal counsel. Gunther says most lawyers charge between $50 and $75 per hour and usually will grant an initial interview at a nominal fee.

"Remember that the attorney is not a marriage counselor or adviser," Gunther says. "Lawyers merely serve as legal counsel ... Look for an attorney with a background in dealing with divorce and family concerns."

The EMU expert says the "Guides of the State Bar Association of Michigan" contain listings of Michigan attorneys.

Gunther, who earned her bachelor's degree from Mercyhurst College and a master's degree in family economics and management from Iowa State University, emphasizes that divorce almost always changes the family's financial situation — usually for the worse. "In most cases, it will be necessary for both spouses to work in order to support two households. Extra money beyond regular household expenses may be needed for moving, furniture and household goods, clothing, transportation and legal fees.

"In most cases, if the wife is not working, she may want to get a job when a divorce seems imminent ... eighty percent of divorced women work."

Ideally, Gunther writes, if both spouses are employed before the separation it will help reduce the financial burden of setting up two households. Dividing money, real estate and possessions accumulated during the marriage is one of the most difficult aspects of divorce, that's why a property settlement agreement is critical.

"The property settlement agreement is a contract drawn up by the attorneys to settle for ALL TIME the property rights, duties and obligations of each partner ... The settlement is for ALL TIME and should not be signed by either partner without the counsel of an attorney," she said.

Child support and custody often are the most sensitive concerns in the divorce proceedings when children are involved. Custody and support is recommended to the judge by the Friend of the Court and procedures vary from county to county. Gunther explains that it is important for the divorcing couple to agree on custody of the children to keep emotional trauma to a minimum. Support payments are based on a graduated scale.

"Support payments are recommended by the Friend of the Court.

In Michigan, payments average about 20 percent of the net salary of the supporting parent for one child, 30 percent for two children, 40 percent for three children up to a maximum of 50 percent ... The percentages vary from county to county. Special needs of the children, such as health needs and educational needs could modify the amount of child support payments ordered by the court," Gunther adds.

In addition to child custody, support and property settlements, a divorcing couple also is often faced with settling accrued debts. Gunther says that debts may be assigned to either partner depending on who has the greater ability to pay. The divorce procedure may even increase the problem of debt, Gunther adds, because during the stressful period money often is spent unwisely.

Gunther's consumer education booklet focuses on the issue of the financial implications of divorce. The booklet costs $2.50 and is available by contacting the Michigan Consumer Education Center, 215 University Library, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, 48197. Call the center at 487-2292 for more information.

Surprise party fetes John, Joan Martin on 'silver date'

A July 28 surprise party, hosted by Tom and Doris Anderson and Larry and Janice Coulson, all of Romulus, marked the silver wedding anniversary of John and Joan Martin of Julie Road, Romulus.

"They started on Aug. 28, 1954, in Philadelphia, Penna., the Martins have three children — John Martin Jr., Diane Marie Martin and Jennifer Ann Martin, all of Romulus.

Thirty-five friends and relatives including guests from Cincinnati, Ohio, were in attendance at the party. The jubilarians entered the home to strains of the wedding March, and into the evening danced to the "Anniversary Waltz".

White and silver bells and streamers added atmosphere to the occasion, which was catered by Ron Campbell of Campbell's Chop Shoppe. The Martins were presented with a plaque containing their picture and an inscription about their 25th anniversary.

Members of St. Aloysius Church of Romulus, the Martins also are involved in the Girgorian Club and a pinocle club. He is employed by Pan Am, while Mrs. Martin includes bowling and making silk flowers among her interests.

For the occasion Mrs. Martin wore a long white dress and carried a bouquet of daisies and lilies of the valley.

Miss Vera plans Sept. 8 wedding

A Sept. 8 wedding at St. Anthony Catholic Church of Belleville, is being planned by Ludia Vera of Belleville and Rafael Velasquez of Detroit.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Juan and Lenor Vera of Lauren Court, Belleville, while her fiancé is the son of Juana Valesquez of Florida Street, Detroit.

Miss Vera is employed at GM's Hydra-Matic Division in Ypsilanti, while her fiancé is an employee of the Olympia Radiator Co. of Detroit.

Change of pace

For a change of pace when entertaining out of doors this summer serve Chicken Crescents as appetizers. They're easy to make, using refrigerated crescent rolls and you cook them in a foil pan over the hot coals of your grill. It lets you get out and mingle during the party, rather than being cooped up in the kitchen cooking.

For your recipe files

Entertain with ease with grilled appetizers

Are you sprucing up the patio for parties this summer? If so, don't forget when planning foods to serve to select appetizers that will start the occasion in fine style. Keep in mind, too, that you can cook them on the grill. Your guests will have fun watching the preparation, and you'll be away from the kitchen to enjoy the festivity.

As your friends socialize in the relaxed outdoor atmosphere, whet their appetites for the feast to come with Chicken Crescents. These crunchy little nibbles begin with refrigerated crescent dinner rolls, the dough rolled out and cut into five triangles. The filling consists of chopped chicken, pecans, celery and mayonnaise with a small portion spooned on each triangle and rolled up.

Cooking these appetizers is easy, too. Just form a baking pan from a sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil, doubled into a large rectangle to fit your grill. Fold up the sides about 1 1/2 to 2 inches, miter the corners for strength and place on the grill rack.

The Chicken Crescents will cook evenly in the reflected heat from the foil pan. Messy cleanup is eliminated, too. And before you get started here's some tips foil for outdoor cooking:

... Line grill fire bowls with heavy duty aluminum foil to aid even cooking and ease cleanup.

... Make your own drip pan by doubling a sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil into a large rectangle to fit your grill. Fold up the sides, miter the corners and set into place in the grill fire bowl before you start the fire. The foil drip pan comes in handy to catch fat drippings and prevents flare-ups.

... Cooking foods in foil bundles over hot coals is convenient and easy. The foil bundle eliminates the need for pots and pans, and cleanup is a snap.

... Individual recipe servings can be prepared in foil for grilling. Then each person can eat directly from the foil packet.

... Wrap up French bread in foil for grilling over hot coals. With the foil wrapping, you can remove one slice at a time and then re-close the foil over the remaining portion, keeping it hot until more is needed.

... Plan ahead for your cookout meal by preparing some of your recipes in foil bundles, refrigerate them and then pop them right on the grill when you're ready to eat.

... Prepare a simple yet tasty dessert on the grill. Combine a 21-ounce can of your favorite pie filling, some sliced fresh fruit, one tablespoon lemon juice and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla inside a foil bundle. Grill over medium hot coals until heated through. Makes a "yummy" hot topping for cake or ice cream.

CHICKEN CRESCENTS

- 1 package (8 oz.) refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped cooked chicken
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise

Separate triangles; roll dough to half original thickness. Cut each triangle into 5 smaller triangles. Combine remaining ingredients. Place 1/2 teaspoon of chicken mixture on each triangle; roll up. Place, with point under, on foil pan. With grill hood closed, cook over hot coals, 10 to 15 minutes, turning to brown all sides. Makes 40 appetizers.

For your troop

An anniversary flag recently was presented to Girl Scout Troop 704 of Barth Elementary School in Romulus on behalf of the Huron River VFW Post 4434, Ladies Auxiliary of Belleville. Thirty-four members of the troop were present for the presentation, made by the auxiliary's Americanism chairman

Gathering honors Dolly Raymond

A family gathering at the Colonial House honored Mrs. Dolly Mae House Raymond of Wayne on her recent 75th birthday.

The 52 family members on hand for the happy occasion took in four generations, and included her children, their husbands and wives; her grandchildren and their husbands and wives, and her great-grandchildren. Also present to share in the festivities was Mrs. Raymond's sister, Verna House.

Mrs. Raymond has 10 children — Maurice of New Boston, Keith of Wayne, Bertha Nelson of Westland, Dolores Morris of New Boston, Chester of Westland, Wilbur of Wayne, Wayne of Lathrup Village, Marguerite and Mary, both of Westland. The family includes 36 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

The birthday celebrant graduated from old Wayne High School, and later married Chester F. Raymond Sr., who passed away in 1945.

She is an Annapolis Hospital retiree and a member of the Community Free Will Baptist Church of Westland for almost 20 years.

Lodge installs members

There is happiness among the members of the Belleville Moose Lodge 934 softball team. The team swept the Van Buren Township tournament, July 14-15, completing the play undefeated.

On July 23, 10 new members were enrolled in the Lodge. Added to the membership rolls were Roger Beckwith, Larry C. Boelter, Gerald Hasselback, Z. Arthur Korreck, Toby Leis, James G. Parras Jr., William Parraghi, Walter K. Sheets, Donald L. Thompson and Timothy L. Wilson.

New arrivals

Diane Marie is the name Larry and Nancy Stout chose for their newest daughter, born July 13 at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills.

Their third child, the infant made her "debut" at 6:03 a.m. She weighed 8 lbs., 1 oz. and measured 22 inches in length.

Residents of Elwell Road, Belleville, the Stouts have two other daughters, Jeannine Marie, 14 months, and Heather Lynn, 7.

The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lemanski of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stout of Canton Township. The happy great-grandmother is Mary Irene Wright, also of Canton Township.

Richielt of Hamburg, Germany, and Mr. and Mrs. Shorder of Berlin, Germany.

Their second child, a daughter, was born July 16 to Joseph and Mary Suda of Hillcrest Drive, Wayne.

The baby girl, named Katherine Elizabeth, weighed 8 lb., 12 oz. at birth at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

The Sudas also are the parents of a son, John Joseph, 18 months.

Grandparents of the children are Harley and Dorothy Tapman of Romulus and Martha Suda of Wayne.

HAROLD REDISKE JR.

WOULD YOU SPEAK BEFORE OUR GROUP?

The answer is "Yes." Educational lectures and informal question-and-answer sessions with community groups about death-and-dying are some of the contributions we are pleased to make to help prepare individuals to better handle a death in the family.

We extend this invitation not only to ministers, doctors, hospital staffs, convalescent home directors, nurses and teachers, but also to men's and ladies' social clubs and church groups.

We want our community to be well-informed on funeral service and the many aspects of death. I'll be glad to help, making use of literature for groups, and providing access to films and other discussion-provoking materials.

If you or members of your group are interested in knowing more about funeral services and procedures, grief-counseling or other pertinent subjects, please call or stop by.

Mrs. Moser visits sister

Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

A one-time Belleville resident, Mrs. Minnie Moser, of San Antonio, Tex., arrived on Friday of last week at the home of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Moser of Bedell Street. She will spend some time visiting relatives in the community.

On Sunday, her brother, William Law of East Huron River Drive, was host at a family gathering and picnic dinner, honoring his sister, Minnie. Members of the Law Family came from Chicago, Ill., Jackson, Ann Arbor, Lincoln Park, Riverview, Taylor and Belleville. Out of state guests were Minnie's son-in-law, Paul Dodd, son James and daughter, Kathy from Chicago, who were weekend guests at the Willis Moser home on Bedell Street.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Tator of High Street were weekend guests of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walton of Toledo, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Traskos with daughters, Tracy and Wendy of Riggs Road returned home on Sunday of last week from Highland Beach, Fla., where they had been guests of their aunt, Mrs. Eileen Lindermann. While there they enjoyed a trip over the Keys to Key West.

A former Liberty Street resident, Mrs. Cora Horton of Battle Creek, has been visiting friends in the city this past week.

JUDY BLY

Belleville resident Judy Bly, the daughter of Mrs. L. Bly of Ryznar Street, graduated May 26 from the Southwestern Michigan School of Nursing as a registered nurse. Named to the honors list, Miss Bly took her state boards on July 10-11 and will receive the results of those tests later this year. She currently is employed at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital in Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Johnson of Roland Street recently returned from Virgie, Ky., where they had been guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Scott Johnson, and had enjoyed a family reunion with 42 relatives present.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welt and family of Willis Road enjoyed a 5-day vacation last week at the Everett Welt cottage near Grayling. Bob, Roberta and Dean also took a trip down the Au Aale River.

After having been a patient at Trenton Osteopathic Hospital for a week, Mrs. Charles Fry of Liberty Street returned home on July 23.

Mrs. Elda Bohl of Robson Road and friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Holms of Plymouth, have returned home after enjoying a trip along the northern shore of Lake Superior to Duluth, Minn. Enroute home they visited the Wisconsin Dells.

Mrs. Lydia Fraley of Lakeside, Calif., left for her home last Saturday after having spent the past three months visiting her sons and daughters and other relatives in Cleveland and New Carlisle, Ohio, and Michigan where she has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Louise Meadows and her daughters Paula and Tammy of Martinsville Road and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stout of Clarence Street.

After having been a patient at Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti, for several days, T. L. L. returned to his home on Larr Road on Tuesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of West Columbia Avenue, attended the Delbert Romine annual family reunion held at Vineyard on July 22. The 40 members present came from Fort Wayne, Ind., Port Huron, Amstead, Taylor and Romulus. Enroute home they stopped at Silver Lake near Addison to see their daughter, Verna Kobish and children and at Saline to visit another daughter and husband, Marian and Marvin Dann.

On July 22 Mrs. Muriel Smith of Liberty Street attended a family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson of Fowlerville in celebration of their son, Greg's 9th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Road were Saturday evening guests of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sabin of Romulus. The occasion was in celebration of the first birthday of the Sabin twins, Timothy Harold and Donna Marie.

The Misses Jennie Snyder and Sue Stolicke of East Lansing were guests of Roberta Welt of Willis Road a couple of days this past week.

Mrs. Harold Klaiss of River Rouge was an overnight guest Sunday of Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street.

Gilberts host roast

The Leon Gilbert family of Romulus were the hosts for the third annual pig roast for friends and neighbors, held July 22.

Special guests for the festive occasion were John and Carol Nash of Berden, England, who were weekend guests of the Gilberts.

Others enjoying the fun, food and frolic were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hargis and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lenossi, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glover and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osak and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Neidameir and children, all of Romulus.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Mac Milton and family of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Janes and family of Flat Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Gondek and daughter of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jamula and children of New Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ladd of Van Buren Township.

While on honeymoon

Beresfords visit Washington state

A 10-day honeymoon in Louisville, Ky. and Seattle, Wash. followed the July 7 marriage of Karen M. Chevela and Charles H. Beresford, both of Belleville.

Redford United Methodist Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony at which The Rev. Glenn Trembath presided. For the five o'clock wedding the altar was appointed with double candelabras and floral arrangements. Organist and soloist for the occasion were Joan Wells and Robert Barnhart, respectively.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Martin E. Chevela, the bride appeared in a toe-touching gown of qiana embellished with English lace

The lace motif was repeated on her fingertip blusher veil of silk illusion. The bouquet she carried was comprised of white roses, gardenias, carnations and baby's breath.

Preceding the bride to the altar were the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Jane Boyd of Detroit, the honor attendant, and three bridesmaids, Rita Ann Sheffer of Belleville; Linda Osvath of Ypsilanti and Karen Toth of Woodhaven, and a trio of junior bridesmaids, Tracey Boyd, the bride's niece, and Susan and Christina Beresford, the bridegroom's daughters, all from Detroit.

Mrs. Boyd was gowned in toffee-colored qiana, the skirt falling in three tiers to floor-length, while the others were in identical champagne outfits.

All wore sprigs of baby's breath in their hair and held copper baskets filled with apricot roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Five-year-old Shannondoah Beresford was flowergirl at her father's wedding and her brother, Shawn, eight, carried out the role of ringbearer. Shannondoah's little champagne frock was fashioned with capped sleeves and an apron and she, too, wore baby's breath tucked in her hair.

The duties of best man went to Dale Boyd, the bridegroom's brother-in-law from Detroit. Paul Schmidt, Phillip Chevela, the bride's cousin from Belleville, and Chuck Beresford of Detroit, son of the bridegroom, made up the corps of ushers.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Marjorie King of Detroit, wore a floral floor-length gown with a companion cape and added a corsage of silk white carnations to her ensemble as she helped greet some 250 guests at the reception which followed in the Romulus Progressive Club.

The new Mrs. Beresford is a graduate of Belleville High School and Harper Hospital School of Nursing. A past vice-president of the Downriver Nurses Association, she is currently an RN supervisor at Seaway Hospital in Trenton. Her husband graduated from Harren High School in New York and is employed at the Blue Max Restaurant in Detroit where the rehearsal dinner was held on July 6.

The newlyweds are making their home at 14800 Haggerty Rd., Belleville.

Pocket

Are you wondering if the budget will permit a steak for grilling in these days of higher prices? There is a solution, according to the Michigan Beef Industry Commission.

Steaks for broiling do come at economical prices, although they may be less familiar than the popular Porterhouse, T-Bone, rib eye, sirloin or tenderloin. Top round steak and chuck blade steak are most eligible for broiling, especially when they are marinated—a way of tenderizing and at the same time supplying extra flavor.

Providing that flavor bonus is easy with an envelope of soup mix—such as onion, beefy onion or onion mushroom. Any one of these convenient all-in-one seasoning mixes can be blended with lemon juice and oil to create a flavorful marinade.

You will be pleasantly surprised by the number of generous servings a top round steak provides. You also will be satisfied with the tenderness of this lean, wastefree steak when it's marinated and broiled only to rare or medium and carved in very thin slices across the grain of the meat. The top round is truly a family steak since servings can be sized to match all appetites.

For something different and delicious serve the juicy steak slices sandwich-style in pita bread pockets with crisp and crunchy vegetables. For the crowning touch, add a flavorful onion-yogurt sauce. The sauce is quickly and easily made with convenient onion soup mix and shredded cucumber. It's so delicious, you will want to serve any extra sauce as a dip or salad dressing!

STEAK AND SAUCE
POCKET PLEASERS

1 broiled beef top round steak
(directions follow)
4 loaves pita bread

2 cups finely shredded cabbage
1 medium green pepper, cut in thin strips
1 large tomato, cut in thin wedges
onion-yogurt sauce (recipe follows)

Carve steak in very thin slices across the grain of the meat. Cut loaves in half crosswise and enlarge pockets when necessary. Place cabbage, green pepper and tomato wedges in each pocket using half the vegetables. Add 1 tablespoon onion-yogurt sauce to each. Place 6 to 8 slices of meat in each pocket on top of vegetables and sauce. Place an equal amount of remaining vegetables in pockets. Add additional sauce as desired. Makes 8 servings.

ONION-YOGURT SAUCE

Combine 1 envelope onion soup mix, 1 16-ounce carton plain yogurt, and 1 cup shredded cucumber. Mix well and chill. Yield 3 cups

STEAK

1 beef top round steak, cut 1 1/4 inch thick
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup salad oil
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground pepper

Combine lemon juice, water, salad oil, salt and pepper. Place steak in utility dish or plastic bag; add marinade, turning to coat. Cover dish or tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours (or overnight), turning at least once.

Place steak on grill top so surface of meat is 4 to 5 inches from heat and broil at moderate temperature to rare or medium (25 to 35 minutes), turning and brushing with marinade occasionally.

One-stroke victory

Piscopink captures golf crown for 4th straight year

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

The dark-haired 32-year-old golfer continued his monopoly of the City Golf Championship at Dun Rovin Sunday when his 154 total captured the title for the fourth consecutive year. But his one-stroke victory didn't come easy.

Two teammates and friends, Fred Backiel of Westland and Karl Stewart of Wayne, finished with 155 and 156, respectively, to take second and third place trophies in the championship flight. Backiel, especially, was in the running until his birdie putt on the last hole barely missed to leave him in the runner-up spot.

The City Golf Tournament, which was held for the 20th consecutive year, is co-sponsored by Associated Newspapers and the parks and recreation departments of Wayne, Westland, Canton, Inkster and Garden City. More than 100 golfers took part.

Kevin Ryan, a talented 19-year-old from Inkster, finished fourth with 78-79-157. Westland's Bob Thomas, who won his city's championship flight title last year, carded 78-80-158 for fifth place.

native who is one of the best amateur golfers in the area. A late entry, the 5-foot-9, 170-pounder tied Piscopink and 20-year-old Pat Dougherty of Garden City for the first round lead Saturday with 74.

The three, along with Stewart, comprised the opening foursome Sunday and extremely tough pin placements led to much higher scores on the last day.

Piscopink a 5-7, 155-pounder, struggled in with an 80 Sunday, just one swing ahead of Backiel's 81. Stewart closed with a 79 but Dougherty, a former star at Garden City West High School, skied to a disheartening 88 to drop out of the running.

Everyone critized the way the holes were placed on Sunday. "It was ridiculous!" said the usually soft-spoken Piscopink. "Every pin was placed on a hill, it seemed, and it wasn't really a fair test of a golfer's ability. The course was in great shape but the pin placements were very unfair," said the former Wayne Memorial High School star athlete.

Backiel and Stewart agreed. "We've played on many fine courses around the state," Backiel explained, "and these were tougher than normal." He paused, then broke into a grin when he added, "They were ridiculous!"

Stewart, an intense, good-looking strong swimmer, was even more outspoken. "The pin placements were the worst I've ever seen. They were really bad. Everyone was on a slope of the green," said the third-place finisher who has won two previous Garden City titles and three while representing Wayne. Stewart was one of only three who broke 80 on Sunday after 11 golfers in the championship flight shot 79 or better on Saturday.

In fact, Piscopink and Backiel, dueling it out under a bright sun with temperatures in the mid-80's, thought they had shot their way out of the running when they came in with 80 and 81 on the par-72, 6,850-yard course.

But, as it turned out, everyone had extreme difficulty with the pin placements and inflated scores were the rule of the day. And many expressed their disappointment over the placing of the pins by the Dun Rovin greenskeeper.

Going head-to-head in the same foursome, Piscopink and Backiel were tied heading for the 7th hole on Sunday. Then disaster struck for Backiel. "I hooked my drive against a tree and then hit my ball against another tree before taking a horrendous nine on the 555-yard par 5-hole," said the disconsolate blond Westlander, who is a teammate on the Brae-Burn Golf Club Publinx team with Piscopink and Stewart.

However, the talented competitor, who wanted to beat Piscopink so bad he could taste it, battled back to tie the score with two holes to play.

Backiel ran up a string of six pars on holes 11 through 16, while Piscopink double-bogeyed holes 11 and 14.

Post script: City golf tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Why is the annual City Championship Golf Tournament a success?

That question raced through my mind during last weekend's two-day ordeal at Dun Rovin in Plymouth where some one hundred or so masochists were swinging golf clubs at golf balls and some of them swearing that they'll never come back.

But they do.

For the past 15 years (at least), this summer classic has brought together the good and the bad, the young and the old, the neophyte and the veteran to play for city titles and the right to represent their cities at the parks and recreation department state championships.

But it has been more than that - the competition has been good - whenever you have class golfers such as Tom Piscopink, Fred Backiel, Karl Stewart, Matt Wiley, Steve Zaidel - out on the course, you expect and get class. But, there is also a lot of camaraderie which transcends the heat and controversy stirred up in any kind of tournament.

"Whenever you have 100 or more persons in any kind of situation and it's especially true in athletic competition," pointed out Bill Hawley, tournament manager, "you're going to have problems - it's just human nature. But there are rules, and those rules are for everyone."

"I know that some of the golfers were complaining about the pin placements for the second day," Hawley continued. "It toughened up the course - but, again, it was for all of us and not just for one player."

"I personally felt it was a super tournament and the administrative people at the course were fantastic. The course preparation couldn't have been better."

No one can argue that the weather wasn't accommodating. Though rain threatened most of the day on Saturday, it held off. Not one drop fell then, or on Sunday. Sunday was one of those rare cloudless sunny days that every golfer who has an understanding of life dreams about. It was a perfect day for an exciting weekend.

Our small cadre of officials - Paddy Lynn, (Westland Parks and Recreation), Ron Wolkowicz (Inkster), David Runyan (Inkster) and Jeff Holderness (Canton), along with our unofficial crew which included Bill Whitworth and Jim Bradley, ANP staffer, made this tournament one of the smoothest running events of its kind.

There are at least five golfers out there today who will attest to just how sharp that cadre was. The five had signed their cards with incorrect scores, and they were disqualified.

But that's the way the chips fall sometimes.

Those who did finish among the top five in the championship flights should be hearing for their parks and recreation departments this week. They'll want confirmation whether you intend to play in the Michigan Parks and Recreation Association's state finals. The state finals will be held either the second or third week of September in Muskegon.

Of course, there is a list of "thank you's" that must be included in here somewhere. And topping that list is City of Westland, Treasurer, along with parks and recreation employees Ralph Tack and Chuck Pickering who handled the finances for us this year. ANP chief photographer Lothar Konietzko, though ill and hurting, provided the tournament trophy winners with that special Lothar touch when it came time to snap pictures. And you can go on and on.

But I feel the individual who came up to us after the tournament (sorry that I didn't catch his name because it was at one of those moments when you're thinking "well, it's all over, let's get home") said it best when he commented:

"I've never played in this tournament before, but I want to say this, that it is the best-run tournament I've played in. And I want you to know that I'll be back next year."

This is what keeps the tournament going on and on and on.

Garden City's championship flight totals were higher than the rest as

turned the tables on his younger foe by winning the second hole in a sudden death playoff, after they tied on the first extra hole.

But all eyes were on Piscopink and Backiel, a blond-haired Westland

Almost

Westlander Fred Backiel came within one stroke of forcing perennial City Championship Golf champ Tom Piscopink to play a "sudden death" to determine the 1979 championship. But Backiel "fell apart" on the seventh hole on Sunday, taking an "disastrous" nine. It was the first time ever he had gone four over-par for a hole. He managed to finish first in Westland however and received the first place trophy for that city from Paddy Lynn of the Westland Recreation Department.

Westland All-Stars are district champs

It was a team that refused to be beaten.

The Westland All-Stars earned the right to the District 3 baseball championship by holding off a determined West 7 American Team, 7-4.

Coming out of the loser's bracket, the never-say-die Westlanders emerged as the best team after dropping the first game of the series to the West 7 contingent, 9-6.

Apparently rocked with tourney jitters, the local team gave up six runs in the first inning and, though they made a run for it for in the later innings, never managed to make up the difference.

had to string together four consecutive victories. Obviously there was no room for error.

Don Wolfe and Bob Foust got the All-Stars going. The two combined on the mound to pitch the Westland AAA to a 9-3 victory over Westland AA. Jeff Malek contributed three key hits.

They kept their title hopes alive with a narrow 6-5 win over West 7 Nationals thanks to the relief pitching of Bruce Billings and a crucial base hit by Phil Kaske who knocked in the winning run in the last inning.

Billings helped his cause with two hits and Kaske finished the game with a pair of safeties.

Girls interested in varsity swimming at Westland John Glenn this fall are urged to get their physical examination out of the way before the season gets underway.

Jim Lawrence, head swim coach at Glenn, said that potential varsity swimmers, may receive a free physical at the Garden City Sports Clinic.

The physicals will be given at 7 p.m., Thursday, August 9 at the clinic located at 30730 Ford Road in Garden City.

Looking good

It was close all the way for the top honors in the championship flight, but when all the scoring was completed Matt Wiley (center) emerged with a one-stroke victory and the Canton Township crown thanks to a 158-total for 36 holes. Runner-up was Rick Francis with 159, while Don Pratt (not pictured) finished third. Making the trophy presentation is Jeff Holderness (at right), parks and recreation employee.

Wayne's Karl Stewart (from left), Tom Piscopink (center) and Steve Zaidel would be a tough combination to beat in any amateur golf tournament. The three were the best in Wayne's championship flight. Piscopink picked up three more trophies by retaining medalist honors for the tournament, the top finisher in Wayne and also retaining the Lenny Anderson Memorial Trophy.

Alpena wins

undefeated - and anxiously wanting to wrap up the tournament as their next foe. Malek was given the tough assignment to cool West 7. And he got the job done with the welcomed help of the defense which pulled off a fantastic eight double plays. That paved the way for a 4-3 victory, and forced the issue into a "rubber game".

This time Westland was ready.

But, again, the All-Stars gave up three runs in the initial innings and had to fight back. Wolfe settled down and gave up one run in the stretch. In the meantime, Billings and Maceks did their thing as each laced three hits. Mates Mike Young, John Chemkewski and David Hoffs accounted for two hits apiece.

Westland's victory was its ticket to the state tournament.

At the state held in the northern province of Alpena, Alpena refused to play the role of the proverbial perfect host and scored two runs with two away in the final inning to edge the local entry, 5-4.

With a loss tied to its record, Westland returned to the diamond the next day to face Niles. Niles gave up in the fifth inning due to the "mercy rule" and the All-Stars had a 12-1 victory and a 1-1 tournament record.

Wolfe, in chalking up the victory, fired a three-hitter. He also helped his own cause with a pair of hits, one a bases-loaded triple that ended the abbreviated game. Billings and Chmielewski checked in with two each for the winners.

Westland's third appearance on the diamond proved to be its final one.

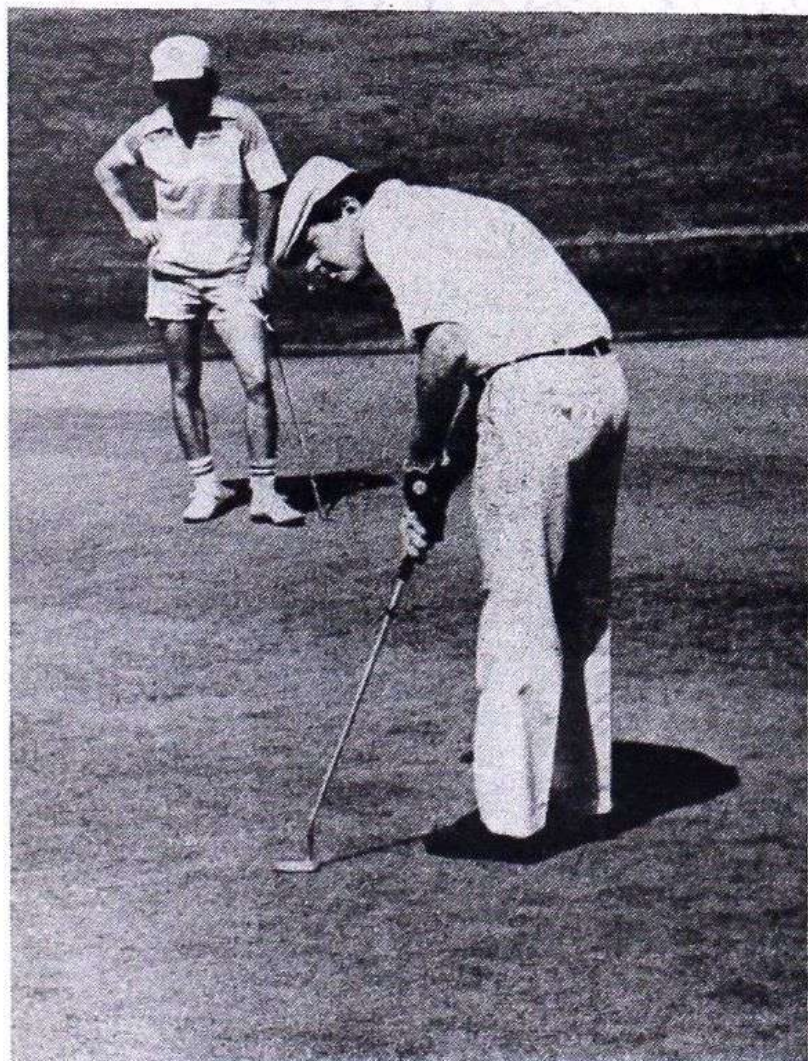

The All-Stars ran up against the hosts again and lost, 1-0, in extra innings.

Billings twirled a no-hitter for 8 and two-thirds innings. (Babe Ruth regulation games are seven innings).

"It was a tough game for us to lose," said Rick Foy, manager of the club. "But that's baseball for you. The boys went out of the tournament the way they have played all year - playing hard and aggressive baseball."

"These young men can be proud of the way they carried themselves through the entire tournament. We are very pleased to have been associated with and worked with these young men."

Foy and Roger Hatcher were responsible for fielding and training the district champs.

Firing line

Watching his putt head for the cup is Canton's Rick Francis who lost the Canton city title to Matt Wiley by one stroke during the annual City Championships held Saturday and Sunday at Dun Rovin in Plymouth. Wiley shot a 158 total for 36 holes.

Lenny Anderson softball tourney dates set

16 area teams are lined up for Aug. 10 action

Sixteen local and area teams are warming up for the third annual Lenny Anderson Memorial Softball Tournament which will be staged on the diamond dedicated to the young patrolman who was the first Wayne police officer to die in the line of duty.

The tournament will be held from Aug. 10 through Aug. 12 at Anderson Field, Howe and Annapolis Rds.

"I feel we have an extremely excellent bunch of teams for this year's tournament," said Larry Quartuccio, tournament director. "It will be close all the way."

Proceeds from the tournament will be handed to the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department. The monies will be earmarked for

Other teams entered this year are: Hangar Lounge (Romulus), Here & Now (Dearborn), Don Massey Cadillac (Plymouth), VFW Harris Kehrer Post - Waltz, Dearborn Realty (Westland), Studio Lounge (Westland), Joe Thomas (Westland), Johnnies Union 76 (Westland), Sammy's Sail Inn (Brighton), Village Bar (Wayne), Rusty Nail (Canton), Mickey's Back Door (Canton), Rinaldo (Redford) Logan's Party Store (Inkster), and Boat Work's (St. Clair Shores).

The teams represented in this year's tournament are in the thick of their respective leagues' title races. However, Studio Lounge, the perennial Westland powerhouse, has the dubious honor of the pre-tournament favorite.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place finishing teams and there also will be trophies for those selected to the tourney's All-Star team. (Ten players will be named to that honorary squad.)

"We feel that the tournament was a big success the first two years it was held because of the fine caliber of teams and outstanding support from the community," Quartuccio said. "I'm sure this will again be the case this year."

In Class A

It's showdown time in Wayne

After 17 softball games, there's still a dispute between Burghuff Bar and Hofbrau Lounge about which team is the best in Wayne's Class A Men's League.

Both teams have chalked up 13-4 won-lost records and remain tie for first place.

They'll have to settle their differences soon.

Burghuff almost got some unexpected help from fourth place Paul's Sporting Goods who kept Hofbrau's guessing right down to the end before dropping a 11-8 thriller. In the meanwhile Burghuff kept its share of the coveted No. 1 spot by burying last place Van Born Auto, 23-9.

Paul's leaped on winning pitcher Dennis Cowell for two runs in the first inning, then added one more in the second to hold on to a slim 3-1 edge.

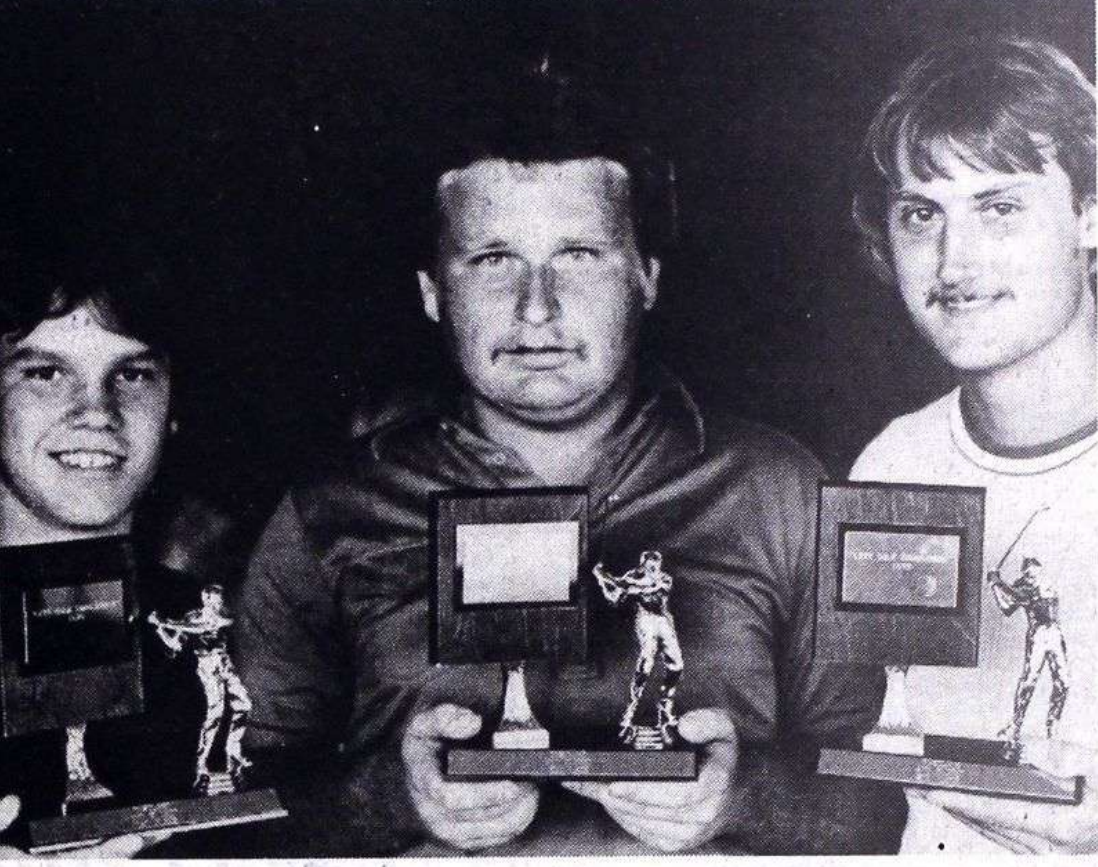

But Hofbrau tied it up and went ahead for good with a three-run spurt in the bottom of the third. It erupted for three runs in both the fourth and fifth innings and wound up with 15 hits off of loser bob Fullerton.

Fullerton gave up a triple and single to Ray Fox and also three hits and three runs batted in to Bob Vojtkofsky. Cowell helped his cause along with a pair of singles and an RBI.

Elmer Daniels paced the loser's assault by rapping out three singles and two runs batted in. Burghuff made its 18 hits count off of hurler Joe Sova who served up a homer and single to Tim Stone. Stone knocked in four runs. Teammates Dave Seaman and Ron Hayes collected five and four hits respectively while Dean Milton and Mike Plagons chipped in with two apiece. Hayes' made his two doubles and a couple of singles count for six RBIs. He was also the winning pitcher.

Watch for them next year

Young Jeff Lansing — he's 16 — managed to come away with the first place trophy in the Westland second flight after scoring a 167 for 36 holes. In second place was Ken Eck (at right) while Jerry Garner (center) won a playoff from B.J. Harden to earn the third place trophy.

Rub out 'MD' is Canton Rec. tourney aim

Muscular Dystrophy has touched just about everyone of us.

And the Canton Parks and Recreation Department would like to see this dreaded disease wiped out.

It's asking for your help.

Canton will hold its second annual Muscular Dystrophy Softball Tournament beginning Aug. 16 through Aug. 19 at Griffin Park, Canton Center Road, between Ford and Cherry Hill, to raise funds to help in 'MD's research.

The tournament will be split into two divisions: men's and women's. There will be 32 teams in the men's division, while 16 teams will play for the championship in the women's group.

Teams wishing to enter the men's division competition will be limited to those that are entered in Class B and C in their respective city leagues and have been playing .500 or less ball this season. Women's teams from all leagues are eligible to compete, and there is no record restrictions. Both division tournaments will be based on the double-elimination format.

There is a $65 registration fee, a $6 umpire fee for each game played, and teams must provide one game ball.

Tied going to the 17th hole, Piscopink responded under pressure. Challenging the monster 575-yard, par 5 hole, he drove his third shot 70 yards to within five feet of the cup and holed it for a birdie four. Backiel faltered to a bogey and the repeat champ was 2-up going to the final par-3 hole.

Backiel still had a chance to tie when Piscopink took a bogey four, but the Westlander's putt barely missed and the likeable Piscopink lugged home another piece of valuable hardware for his packed trophy case.

In the individual races for city championships, here's how it went: In Wayne, Piscopink, Stewart and Steve Zaidel finished in the first three spots for trophies with 154, 156, and 159, respectively.

In Westland, Backiel's 155 was followed by Bob Thomas' 158 and Murray Brooks, who tied Darrell Newsome for third at 160, won the playoff for the final trophy spot.

In Garden City, Roger Sutherland won a playoff victory for first place over Terry Bielecki when they tied with 161. Pat Dougherty's 162 was third.

Kevin Ryan's 157 took honors in Inkster, followed by James Jackson's 159 and Angelo Garfole's 162.

In Canton, Matt Wiley came out of nowhere to win with a total of 158, one stroke better than last year's champion, Rick Francis. Don Pratt, who finished out of the running last year in sixth place, won the third place trophy with 168.

All-Area grapplers

Winekoff brothers are at Squaw Valley

The Winekoff brothers — Rick and Carl — who were instrumental in Belleville High's bid to win the Suburban 8 Conference and the Class A district wrestling championships last season were among the talented high school wrestlers that attended the United States Olympic Training Center recently at Squaw Valley, California.

Both Rick and Carl, who will be a senior this year, were named to the Associated Newspapers' All-Area team last season. Rick graduated in June.

Their high school coach is Gerald Malecek, a former Big 10 Conference wrestling champ.

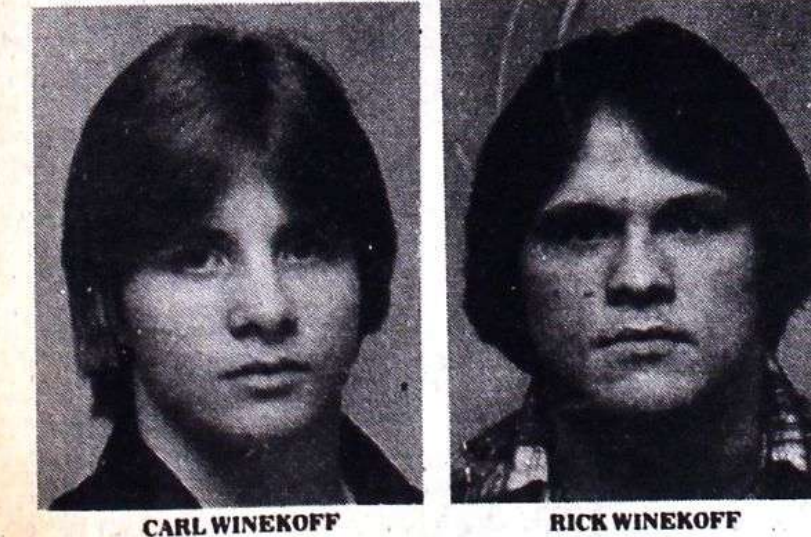

The USOTC at Squaw Valley is the first of four to six regional training sites planned for operation in the United States. Its purpose is to aid the development of this country's amateur athletes by providing food, lodging, training facilities, medical assistance and sports medicine testing to the athletes and their coaching staffs at no costs.

Since opening in June of 1977, the USOTC at Squaw Valley has accommodated thousands of amateur athletes representing almost every Olympic and Pan American sport.

In addition to providing centralized locations for the athletes to train and exchange knowledge, the training centers are foreseen as sites for international and national competition.

In general, the training center concept is aimed at easing the financial strain for the amateur athlete and their families while providing the finest opportunity available for development of amateur athletics within the scope of the United States Olympic Committee Charter.

Studio is king of Major League

Studio Lounge is the undisputed king of the Westland Class A Men's Softball World.

With less than a week to go for the playoffs, the league leaders have a comfortable three game edge over their nearest rivals, Hideaway Bar and Jamies, who are squeezed into second place, each with 14-4 records.

While Studio hides its title until the post-season playoffs, Jamies warmed up for the tournaments with an impressive 14-8 victory over fourth place Joe Thomas's. Jamies exploded for 11 runs in the first inning as Chuck Copeland hit one over the fence and collected two other hits off of winning pitcher Lee Calloway who also gave up a couple of hits to Jim Tromeur ad Bob Thaxton.

Both Calloway and losing hurler Joe Cooley were tagged for 14 hits. Pacing the assault on Cooley were Dick Saylor, Jerry Dettler and Bob Goodlow. Saylor and Dettler split three hits, while Goodlow hammered a homer and singled for three runs batted in.

The Disciples picked up their fourth win of the campaign with a come-from-behind 10-4 decision over the last place P & P Distributors. Winning pitcher Tom Bronsink helped his cause with a pair of RBIs thanks to a couple of singles and a triple while teammate Wade Evans slammed a roundtripper and doubled, knocking in three runs. Dale Luke accounted for a single and double off of loser Bob Sharp. Bronsink scattered eight hits, one

All-Stars are upset by Castelli

Second place All-Stars Sports lost ground on league-leading Westland Party Store as Castelli's ruined the Stars' chances of catching the frontrunners in the Westland Minor White Division Softball League.

Castelli put five decisive runs on the board in the fifth inning to hand the runners-up a crucial 9-6 setback. That left the Stars two full games (7-2) behind Westland Party which has compiled a 9-1 season record.

Tom Traub pitched a 10-hitter in chalking up the victory, while Gary Swain was charged with the loss. He tossed a 13 hitter which included three hits to Mark Koss and Jim Griffin and a pair of RBI singles to Bob Rayburn.

Traub gave up two hits each to Phil Parsons and Gary Swain. Ernie White slapped a run-scoring double. Hamm's Bears was awarded their third win of the campaign when sixth-place McCurdy's Optical was a 'no show' for their scheduled game.

Grid registration

The Westland Youth Athletic Association will hold its annual football registration on Aug. 4 at the Bailey Recreation Center, Ford Road behind City Hall.

All players, ages 9 through 13, are urged to sign up between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Best in Garden City

They needed a "sudden death" playoff to determine the champ for Garden City and Rog Sutherland (at right) beat his younger opponent, Terry Bielecki on the second hole in that duel for first place. Both had shot 161. Pat Dougherty (center) settled for third best — and he was also one stroke back from the co-leaders.

Studio singing a title tune as it posts 12th victory

Undefeated Studio Lounge continued on its way to the 1979 Westland Parks and Recreation's Class A Women's Softball Championship with a 9-1 victory over unheralded Jamies's.

It was Studio's 12th consecutive victory and moved the league-leader three games up on second place Alberta Thomas whose hopes of

J & D Auto mars Johnny's record

Though it didn't affect its first place status, Johnny's 76, the previously undefeated Westland Minor Red Division Softball leader has a tainted record.

Johnny's can blame J & D Auto for its first setback in 11 starts this season.

J & D, apparently unimpressed by the league-leader's previous showings, rallied for five runs in the sixth inning to cut the champ's victory string at 10.

Johnny's appeared to have the game wrapped up in the second inning when it built up a 9-3 lead. Undaunted, J & D roared back with three runs in the third, two more in the fourth and exploded for five in the fifth to hand pitcher Larry Holt his first defeat of the campaign.

Johnny's got 17 hits off of winner Don Yanick who gave up three hits to Bob Morin. Morin drove in two RBIs. Rick Sharp singled and

Master Craft 2-run rally in 7th nips Block's, 8-6

Theresa Pappas and Else Eberhardt drilled homers that helped lift Master Craft to a close 8-6 victory over Rains & Block in the Van Buren Township Women's Softball League.

Ms. Pappas also laced a double and Eberhardt collected a run-scoring single for the winners. Myrt Voll chipped in three runs batted in on a single and double for the winners who received a six-hit pitching effort from Barb Kalasz.

Rains and Block stayed in the game right up to the end when they cut the winner's 4-1 lead with a two-run spurt in the third. The two teams exchanged two runs in the fifth, but Master Craft came up with two more in the top of the seventh which proved to be the loser's undoing.

Warriors stretch win streak to 12

Not only are they undefeated, but the Westland Warriors have the distinction of being the only unbeaten men's softball team in the Westland Parks and Recreation multi-leagues.

Rec offers lessons

The Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department will offer golf lessons starting on Monday, Aug. 6 at Pine Creek Country Club.

"We'd like all those who want to improve or pick up the fundamentals of this exciting sport to register," said Mark J. Rurick, director of parks and recreation. "We also will have a professional golfer instructing these lessons."

There will be six one-hour lessons starting with golf etiquette and progressing through grip and stance, and also the use of irons and woods, pitching and chipping.

Students will hit about 75 balls per class.

There is a $25 per student registration fee and the class is open to 10 persons.

Classes will be offered twice a week and the fourth week will be used for make-up due to rainouts.

Two classes are scheduled: one class will begin at 6:30 p.m., while the second starts at 7:30 p.m. They will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays.

If you don't have clubs on balls, the parks and recreation department will provide them at no costs.

Students must sign up for the class at the Parks and Recreation Department located in the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road in Belleville.

If you have any questions or want further information about the lessons, please telephone 699-2001.

The Warriors made it 12 straight with a 5-1 victory over the eighth place J.C. Penney's squad and they've all but wrapped up the championship. Ken's Standard, in second as the week got under the way, is three games out of first place.

Larry McConnell checked the charge plate people on a five-hitter. He missed a rare shutout when J.C. put a run on the board in the sixth inning.

Ron Matchinski was the loser. He was also stingy with the hits, giving up a double and triple to Don Dumouchelle and a triple and single to Brian Parrish. Jon Hughes wound up with a couple of hits for the winners.

Of the five Penney's hits, Wally Prough's single produced the only run. Ed Lucius and Tom Bowsiey each had singles to set up the lone tally.

Ken's scored in each inning and pounded out 28 hits to humble Local 25, 22-7, for No.9. Gregg Berendt blasted four hits and chased home four RBIs while teammate Rick Staton notched three doubles and Bob Fallow had two singles off of loser Jake Hamblin.

Mike Fry served up 13 hits, two each to Matt Graft, Mark Kledie and Dave Reitzel who had a single and a double for two RBIs.

Jon's Goodtime Bar rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh and fell short 10-6 against third place Jake's Lounge. Jake's got the job done early with five runs in the opening inning off of loser Terry Taft who gave up three hits to Kyle Fitzgerald, Corky Hayes (who had two triples) and two hits, including an out of park homer to Jim Kolodziej.

Taft wasted three hits, a double off of winner Hays who also gave up three hits — a pair of singles and a two-bagger to Daave Holman. Russ Morine finished the game with a single and double.

In other Class A action, Hideaway Bar took its frustrations out on P & P Distributors as the second best team in the league went on a run-scoring rampage and destroyed Distributors 26-5. Norm Beasley and John Lee each belted one over the fence off of losing pitcher Bob Sharp.

Beasley finished the night with four hits and four runs batted in, while Lee had five runs in the RBI column and also connected for two doubles. John Marmul chipped in with four singles and four RBIs.

Winning pitcher Dave Wyrabiewicz gave up 11 hits, two each to Bob Yahke, Dave Eads and Mike Perrin.

The Disciples broke a five-all tie with a last of the seventh run to edge Abbey Roadhouse 6-5 as winning pitcher and loser Frank Coban split 18 hits evenly between them. Tom Tressick's double and triple led the loser's hitting attack. Teammates Ray Hannon and Wolfe each had two hits.

Ken Barnett's double drove in two runs for the winners. Mates Bill Disch and Don Luke each had two hits.

Jamies's got on the scoreboard for six runs in the first inning and went on to whip Dearborn Real Estate 21-10. Calloway was the winning pitcher. He was tagged for 15 hits, two each to Steve Fedulchuk, Carter and Don Thomas.

Meanwhile Jerry Dettter connected for two homers — both going over the fence, a double and a pair of singles for a grand total of six RBIs. Dick Saylor scored four times after getting aboard on four hits and Tim Abramski also drilled a couple of over-the-fence roundtrippers, a double and single which put three runs on the board.

Explorers stun B leader

Village Bar streak ends via forfeit

While all the data isn't in, it appears the Explorers are the first team to boast a victory over Village Bar, the previously undefeated Class B Men's Softball League leader.

Undefeated in 15 consecutive games this season, Village Bar appeared well on its way to victory over the fourth place Explorers who had come into the game with a 7-8 over-all record. The Class B leader exploded for 10 runs in the top of the fourth and broke open a close game.

But, the Explorers protested that Village Bar reportedly had in its line-up an ineligible player and the parks and recreation department upheld the complaint. The Explorers became the winners on a 7-0 forfeit.

The loss also tightened up the title race as Village Bar has a mere one-game edge over second place Pittman's. Pittman's knocked off the Rangers 14-7 for their 14th victory in 16 starts.

Pittman's staked winning pitcher Ted Rize to six runs in the first inning and after that it was only a matter of time. Mike Jose hammered a homer, and Mark Lipinski chipped in with a pair of singles, while Rize helped his cause with a triple and a triple.

Bob Teague was charged with the loss. He gave up 12 hits. Teague looked good at the plate where he collected three hits, including a double. Teammate Dan Docusen had a pair of singles for the losers.

Daring Auto picked up its third victory in 16 outings at the expense of Rod Ruddy, 14-8. John Petri cashed in on a homer, double and single for four runs batted in off of losing pitcher Bill Coleman who also served up a pair of singles to Jeff Jircousky.

Jircousky was the winner. He had his problems, though, as Ruddy gathered 13 hits off of him, including three by Chris Smith and a homer and single by Dick Fisch.

In the only other game, B-B Softball made nine hits and the nine-hit pitching by Tom Tompkins count for a 6-3 victory over Massey's. Ron Squires connected for three singles and Bill Raickovich had two hits off of the B-B hurler.

Larry Wood laced a two-run homer and Dino Myers doubled and tripled off of loser Mark Gustafson.

It remains close in C

Pirates have a half-game lead

With the end of the regular season just a couple of days off, it's still a toss-up on which team — the Pirates or Tri-City Carpets — will wear the Wayne Class C Men's Softball League crown.

Entering the final week of play, the Pirates chalked up a pair of key victories to go ahead of the runner-up, Tri-City Carpets. The Pirates are sporting a 12-2 won-lost record as compared to the Carpets' 11-2.

If the race is close, the Pirates-Woolf game wasn't. Erupting for 14 runs in the third inning, the league-leaders buried Woolf 23-2 as Jeff Ferguson knocked in four runs thanks to a triple and a pair of singles. Teammate Dave Ross homered and singled off of loser Mike Louis.

Ferguson also homered and singled in the Pirates' 10-2 triumph over the fourth place Possums (6-8) which managed only six hits off of winning hurler Bill Wilson.

Wilson gave up a couple of hits to Greg Wellman whose single and double produced both of the Possum runs.

Mike Geleka contributed three singles and Ross also socked a roundtripper for the league-leaders.

The Jaycees went over the .500 mark last week with a 9-2 triumph over the Possums. Larry Kowalski tossed a 12 hitter in picking up the victory, while Bob Billings was the loser.

The Jaycees have an 8-7 won-lost over-all record and are entrenched in third place.

winner of the City Championship Golf tournament, Wayne flight. Patrolman Anderson was critically wounded in the line of duty while answering a family argument on April 10, 1974. He died on May 25, 1974.

Merit Taste Key To Success!

'Enriched Flavor'™ cigarette sparks whole new taste era in low tar smoking.

A few years ago, most smokers agreed: low tar meant low taste.

Then along came MERIT and a whole new taste idea called 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And the "low tar, low taste" theory was exploded. Exploded with proven taste in a new low tar cigarette.

No other new cigarette in the last 20 years has attracted so many smokers as quickly as MERIT!

It's clear: MERIT taste is changing attitudes towards low tar smoking.

Good news for all savers.

NEW 4-YEAR MONEY MARKET SAVINGS CERTIFICATE* MINIMUM BALANCE $100.00 INTEREST CONTINUOUSLY COMPOUNDED

This account pays interest at a rate based on the average 4-year yield for United States Treasury Securities as determined by the United States Department of the Treasury. The interest rate on 4-Year Money Market Certificates is determined monthly by the Treasury Department. The rate in effect on the day the certificate is opened will remain in effect for the full 4-year term. Interest is continuously compounded on the most favorable basis possible—giving you the highest rate available on these certificates— $\frac{1}{4}\%$ higher than banks can pay. In July, the rate is 7.85% per annum, and with continuous compounding the effective annual yield is 8.284%.

NEW! A HIGHER INTEREST RATE ON REGULAR PASSBOOK SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.

The interest rate on the regular passbook savings account has been increased to $5\frac{1}{2}\%$, paid and compounded quarterly. No minimum deposits are required. Interest is paid from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal. With quarterly compounding, the effective annual yield on this account is 5.614%. No bank can pay this high rate on regular passbook savings.

26-WEEK MONEY MARKET CERTIFICATES* MINIMUM BALANCE $10,000.00

The interest rate of this certificate is determined by the average auction rate (on a discount basis) for 26-week Treasury Bills. Federal regulations prohibit all financial institutions from compounding interest during the term of a 26-Week Money Market Certificate. If retained in the account, interest is compounded at the time of renewal. The interest rate on 26-Week Money Market Certificates is determined weekly. The rate in effect on the day the certificate is opened is the rate in effect for the full 26-week term. Call 643-9583 to obtain the current rate.

$100,000.00 SAVINGS CERTIFICATE*

This certificate has terms ranging from 30 days to 5 years with interest rates quoted by Standard Federal Savings on a daily basis. The rate established at the time an account is opened is the rate in effect for the full term of the certificate. Interest may be added to this account and compounded quarterly, or you may elect to receive your interest by check. Call 643-9562 for the current rates.

New penalties for early withdrawal from savings certificates.

*Funds may be withdrawn at any time. For certificate accounts issued or renewed beginning July 1, 1979, funds withdrawn prior to maturity from certificates with a term of one year or less will lose 90 days' interest. All interest will be lost if the funds have been on deposit for less than 90 days. For certificates with a term of more than one year, the funds withdrawn will lose 180 days' interest, or all interest if the funds have been on deposit for less than 180 days.

Plant is blamed for drain odor

A Romulus chemical plant could face court action by the State Attorney General's Office if it fails to comply with recommendations to stop foul-smelling odors coming from the Trouton Drain.

At least a dozen officials, representing that many governmental agencies and offices were in attendance at City Hall to hear area residents tell their story of neglect, bureaucratic red tape, buck-passing and frustration over their efforts to have the Trouton Drain odor problem resolved over the past six years.

For over three hours, officials heard testimony from angry residents and city leaders concerning the polluted condition of the drain, located in the northeast section of Romulus.

The drain, which runs in an easterly direction, parallel to Beverly Road, abuts several residential properties, and by all accounts, often contains a foul-smelling, black liquid, which makes life most unpleasant for its neighbors.

According to a task force report, conducted by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) in 1978, and released at last night's meeting, the major source of the pollution is from contaminated groundwater entering the drain from a nearby chemical reprocessing plant called Chemical Recovery Systems.

A spokesman for the company, which purchased the property in 1971, claims it inherited the problem from the previous owners, and in fact, have already spent nearly $250,000 to clean up the land.

The company said it has submitted another plan to further clean up the area, which would cost another $80,000. However, both the DNR and city officials claim that isn't enough, and are demanding the company do more. In fact, a spokesman suggests the company could spend ten times that amount to completely eradicate the problem.

Chemical Recovery, claiming financial hardship, says it can't afford that kind of cleanup effort, and is applying for a pollution control loan through the Michigan Job Improvement Authority. A similar application last year was submitted too late to qualify, the company said.

City Council member Jimmie Raspberry, himself a resident of the area, noted that the $2 million company is currently expanding its facilities by moving its Ohio operation to Romulus. He commented this action doesn't indicate financial hardship to him.

Meanwhile, as temperatures rise, so does the stench and the tempers of nearby residents.

As one resident put it, "The burden is upon you state and county officials to demonstrate that government really works. If something doesn't happen because of this meeting, my friends and neighbors will just say, 'I told you so.'"

Problems began with new plant

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus resident who has lived next door to the Trouton Drain for 33 years revealed the storm drain was never a problem until a chemical recovery plant began operations in the immediate area.

Charles Alrid moved to 36020 Joan with his family back in 1946. He recalls that three previous business tenants of the property now occupied by Chemical Recovery Systems Co. operated for several years, each without causing problems with Trouton Drain.

Alrid said the location at 36345 Van Born Rd. was occupied by a coal yard when he first moved to the area. A lumber yard and a paint and oil company were the next businesses to locate on the site, each for three to four years, again with area residents experiencing no problems with Trouton Drain, he said.

But, all that changed with the coming of the chemical recovery firm some 10 years ago. About six to eight years ago, he explained, he and his neighbors began noticing odors from the open storm drain.

Alrid said complaints of residents in the area prompted the chemical company to install lagoons to store waste liquids generated by the firm's operations.

"The lagoons didn't help anything," Alrid said. "In fact, they seemed to make matters worse."

An on-site inspection Thursday afternoon of Trouton Drain from Joan to the lagoon, some 1,000 feet north, by the Enterprise failed to detect any odors what soever. However, a check with Alrid Friday disclosed that odors became so strong Thursday night and early Friday morning that he could not sleep.

His statements supported assertions made by Romulus Councilman Jimmie Raspberry.

"There seldom seems to be any smell during the daytime. They usually are the worst in the evening and during the night," he explained.

Raspberry said he was told by those who had inspected the area, including technical personnel from the State Department of Natural Resources, that sunlight played a prominent role in keeping odors to a minimum and that the onset of nightfall brought a complete turnabout.

"Before we had troubles with Trouton Drain, it was full of fish, muskrats and other animals," Alrid declared. "In the winter, it was used as a skating pond," he added.

Now, all of that has changed. Area residents want something done about ridding their neighborhood of the obnoxious odors that plague them and their families.

Whoever is responsible for accomplishing what has over the years appeared to be impossible—ridding Trouton Drain of its odors—will automatically become a hero to inhabitants of the area.

In response to that comment and questioning from State Sen. William Faust's aide, David Calahan, the DNR task force chairman Thomas Leep promised to report back with a recommendation within 30 days.

Leep was seconded by Roger Schwartz from the State Attorney General's Office, who said if the company does not agree to follow the DNR's recommendations, his office is prepared to go to court to force compliance.

Said Schwartz, "If we go into court, it will be with both guns blazing. We will then ask for a $800,000 cleanup job, rather than only $80,000. It (the court action) will not be a half-hearted effort. We are ready to go to the circuit court if necessary."

At the end of the three-hour meeting, many of the 70 citizens present were still skeptical. Many had attended similar meetings in the past, with little to show for it.

Anyone with a complaint about the Trouton Drain, or any other Wayne County drain in Romulus, is urged to call the Wayne County Health Department at 284-0664 to lodge complaints.
